MOB MURDERS PRESIDENT OF HAITI, DRAGS HIS BODY AROUND STREETS OF CITY

Washington, July 28.—The cruiser Washington with Rear Admiral Caperton, 700 blue-jackets and an expeditionary force of 100 marines, sailed from Cape Haitien last night for Port au Prince.

Rear Admiral Benson, acting secretary of the navy, read a brief cablegram from Admiral Caperton today saying the Washington sailed at 8 o'clock last night. Admiral Caperton will use his discretion about landing marines.

Port au Prince, July 28.—A mob of infuriated Haitians today removed Vilbrun Guillaume, president of Haiti from the French legation, where he took refuge yesterday and shot him to death in front of the house.

This act of violence followed immediately the burial of the 160 political prisoners who were massacred in prison yesterday morning at the time of the revolutionary outbreak against president Guillaume.

GERMANS HAVE LOST 500,000 MEN IN WARSAW DRIVE

London, July 28.—Though the Germans now hold a great line from the Gulf of Riga sweeping southwestward around Warsaw, thence encircling the city and stretching away to the Galician frontier, near Sokal, it is estimated they have lost 500,000 men, perhaps more, in this, the most ambitious movement of the war, and the Russian front is not yet broken.

On the Narew river north of the Polish capital the Russians have made a stubborn show of resistance, holding Field Marshal Von Hindenburg for the time being in check, while to the south the combined, Austro-German forces struggling to seize the Lublin-Chelm railway have been for days on the threshold of success without being able actually to achieve their goal. Fighting on this latter front has been renewed with great intensity and the Germans claim to have improved their position on the extreme right which is resting on the Bug river.

Immediately west of Warsaw, comparative quiet prevails and it is along the Lublin-Chelm sector or in the Narew river region that it is believed a crisis will be reached.

GIVES REPORT ON LEELANAW SINKING

Washington, July 28.—Ambassador Page today forwarded a report by the British admiralty on the sinking of the American steamer Leelanaw by a German submarine off the Orkney Islands last Monday.

The admiralty reported that the Leelanaw was flying the American flag when overtaken and that the crew had plenty of time to take to the boats which were towed sixty miles until a strange vessel was sighted.

WON'T LET PRISONERS SEND LETTERS HOME

Berlin, July 28. (By Wireless to Sayville)—The Overseas News Agency, under a Vienna date, today gave out the following: "Russia has forbidden Austrian prisoners of war to exchange letters with members of their families. This is contrary to the international agreement. The Austrian government in retaliation has made the same regulation with regard to one of the detention camps of Russian prisoners and it is threatening to extend this ruling to all the prison camps if Russia does not change the regulation in question."

N. & W. Claims It Has No Intention Hauling Ohio Coal

Columbus, July 28.—While two additional car loads of food were shipped to Nelsonville today to relieve hunger among destitute coal miners and Governor Willis issued further appeals to a number of prominent men to assist in gathering contributions, the Public Utilities Commission was considering questions involved in the complaint of Ohio miners that preferential rates given West Virginia coal producers is responsible for illness of Ohio mines.

The Norfolk & Western railway asked to be dismissed from the case on the ground that it is the road's "intent and desire to haul Ohio coal." It secures the traffic it can manage in the West Virginia field, railway officials declared. It was said the commission will not consider this plea at present.

That West Virginia operators are keenly interested in developments in the coal situation is indicated by notification of commission that James Hart will attend the meeting of the Ohio miners Wednesday. The secretary of

GERMANS SINK SIX MORE SHIPS

London, July 28.—German submarines show no cessation in their activity in the North Sea. The latest reports set forth are that the Swedish steamer Emma, three Danish schooners, the Maria, the Neptunis and the Lena have been sunk by them. The crews of these four vessels were landed at Blyth today.

The British trawlers Icen and Salasa were also sunk today by a German submarine in the North sea. The crews were landed at Loewestoft England.

Share of Indiana Transportation company which leased boat for one day—$750.
Rebate to Western Electric Employees' Association, excursion promoters—$625.
Death's share (estimated)—1,239 souls.

Chicago, July 28.—With thirty persons either under arrest or detained as witnesses, official inquiry into the steamer Eastland disaster proceeded today in an effort to fix responsibility for the disaster, which cost the lives of more than 1,000 persons.

Indictments charging manslaughter, criminal carelessness or conspiracy will be returned by the state grand jury tonight if the evidence presented to that body warrants such action, according to state's attorney Hoyne. It is expected that the coroner's inquest, which may be concluded tonight, will result in the holding of several persons in the grand jury.

Secretary of Commerce Redfield was busy today directing the federal investigation. "No examination records of the local steamboat inspection service and conferred with officials preparatory to beginning the examination of witnesses tomorrow."

ENGLISH BAG 'PLANE, BUT ONE OF THEIRS

South End, England, July 16. (Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Two companies of territorials stationed near here brought down an aeroplane with rifle fire early this week, but they are not doing any boasting over their feat for the victim proved to be a British army machine. The territorials responsible for such an accurate but unfortunate feat of marksmanship were guarding Canvey Island where huge quantities of war munitions are stored and they had instructions to shoot at any aviator flying over the island without giving an agreed signal to indicate that he was not bound on a hostile errand. The victim of their marksmanship either did not know of this rule or ignored it and when he got within range a volley was fired at him. None of the bullets struck the aviator but one punctured the aeroplane's gasoline tank and he was compelled to alight.

When the territorials ran up to complete their triumph by taking the aviator prisoner they were greeted with a volley of strong language. "The profanity was unmistakably English and when he gave further proof of his identity as a British army aviator the commanding officer of the territorials attempted to assuage his wrath by pointing out that he had served as the means of not only testing the marksmanship of the territorials which is not held in the highest repute by the citizens of South End who have suffered grievously from unrepelled air raids, but had proved that an aeroplane could be brought down by rifle fire.

But the aviator refused to play gracefully the role of a vicarious target and departed threatening vengeance.

Pests I Have Met
By Van
No. 1-- The Boarding House Kidder

This species of pest usually comes in the form of man, although there are exceptions to all rules. "The Boarding House Kidder" is the guy who never misses a meal nor an opportunity to pull a joke or an alleged joke at some fellow boarder's expense. You'll find him in most every regular boarding house, in the city or country.

His source of wit is simply wonderful (?)—at times he displays almost human intelligence. He is always the first to laugh at his efforts, he always laughs the loudest and longest of anyone at the table.

He never thinks of these puns except at meal times, his limited brain capacity not being equal to more than three or four thoughts a day.

He would rather take a dose of poison than submit gracefully to a joke pulled on himself by some other boarder. When this occurs he invariably leaves the table in a huff. He usually knows it all and in away from unless you starve to death.

WILL INVESTIGATE ARREST OF AMERICAN

Washington, July 28.—The state department has begun an inquiry into the case of Harry L. Wilson, a clerk in the American consulate in Berlin, arrested on the Danish frontier by German authorities while attempting to leave Germany without a passport.

While awaiting reports, officials will not comment. Wilson has been in Berlin about five years. His home is in Oregon.

MACHINISTS ARE FIRM

Bridgeport, Conn., July 28.—Machinists who are involved in a controversy with the Remington Arms and Ammunition company and its sub-contracting plants said today that so far as they are concerned there was no change in the situation. Only machinists, apparently are now on strike. They await the return of J. J. Keppler, international vice president of the machinists' organization, who is in New York, before deciding on their next step.

"JIM, THE PENMAN"K Boys Enjoying Camp Life, Breezy Letter From Front

Camp Willis, July 29.—Fully equipped and recruited to its full strength of 66 men on peace footing, Company K is settled here after a trip which, though long and arduous, left all the men in fine condition.

On Sunday all the men assembled at the Portsmouth armory at 5 a. m., ready to do full justice to the excellent breakfast served by Caterer Jake Pfau. Without incident the company boarded the 7:10 train for Columbus to which a special coach had been attached for our special use. Company I of Ironton was also on the train in its coach. At Columbus the three coaches with officers and men of the two companies and a special baggage coach was attached to a special train which finally got to Camp Willis (or rather to Yellow Springs at which the camp is located) at about 4 o'clock.

The best of spirits reigned on the tedious trip, made more so by the long wait in Columbus. For over three hours the men stayed in or near the cars there, only the commissioned officers going up town at all and they for only an hour or so. On the train another meal was served to the hungry men and this heartened them for their two mile tramp to the camp on their arrival at Yellow Springs.

Tents were pitched, the cook tent, so indispensable to the morale and well being of troops. The boys pitched in with a good will, and despite their hard day, were soon settled in their own quarters by squads.

Monday was a very quiet day. As camp didn't officially start until then all the rations which had been fed to the men were furnished by the courtesy and consideration of the commanding officer, Captain J. W. Smith, and his able lieutenants, Joseph Horechov and H. W. Harsha. Company K was the only company to receive three meals on Sunday and breakfast Monday. The others were lucky to get two meals in that period. No maneuvers were attempted on Monday. First Sergeant Roy Moore set details to work on policing the camp, setting the tents right, etc., while Quartermaster Sergeant R. E. Severs put the commissary in good running order. Guard was set by the regiment and passes are now needed to get into or out of camp. Maneuvers tomorrow—Company K is going to push the others hard for their laurels.

Notes of the Camp

Great boxing match tonight. Corporal McGraw has all the rest of them lashed to the mast at fancy foot and hand work.

First Sergeant Roy Moore deserves great credit for the able way in which he has been handling the company.

Geel! You should see the number of cigarettes and other smokes the boys consume.

Sergeant Gottfred Larsen, who has been so instrumental in the success of the company, has been detached from the company and assigned to a machine gun company on detached duty from Company L.

George Lother and "Bud" James have been assigned to the kitchen detail and help hand out the "grub." It's great to have a drag with cookie.

Sergeant Matthews was a pretty busy man this morning. He had a bunch of "rookies" to put through the manual of arms. "Ting" acquitted himself nobly and had the boys working like veterans when he finished with them.

Sergeant Wood, being first duty sergeant, has a pile of work of all kinds to do. In charge of the policing and also the hospital detail in addition to all the odds and ends.

Look at this! Meat three times today—we'll be fighting our weight in wildcats tomorrow.

Ask Gil Phillips, "Bank" Hodge, "Sank" Ratcliff how they enjoyed themselves at Springfield.

The Movies

Vivian Martin in "The Wishing Ring" at Lyric Tomorrow

When Marguerite Clark decided to become a star on the legitimate stage, she chose Owen Davis' play "The Wishing Ring" as her vehicle. Vivian Martin, one of the daintiest creatures ever seen before the camera has been chosen by The World Film Corporation as the star who is to be seen in the picturization of that play.

The picture is an idyll and is of the early Victorian period in England. Chester Burnet appears as Giles, the son of the gouty Earl of Boteson, while Miss Martin plays Sally, the poor person's daughter whose love for roses brings her into a world that opens her eyes to the beauties of nature.

"The Wishing Ring," is a unique picture, so different from the average action of features that it is an injustice to the producer to attempt to tell in words what he has shown on the screen. The charm that is inherent in the picture is of the kind that evaporates in telling the story. Naturally one longs to know as much as possible regarding features to be seen, but in the case of Vivian Martin in "The Wishing Ring" it is best that one go to the theatre in search of a pleasant surprise, because one will surely get it in seeing this picture.

The spirit of love, a garden of roses and love add a charming story and a winsome, beautiful star and you will have a faint idea of the pleasure to be found in this Shubert feature—a regular "Peg O' My Heart" story in pictures.

"The Heart of a Painted Woman"

At The Columbia Tonight

Mme. Olga Petrova, who makes her screen appearance in the Popular Plays and Players company production of "The Heart of a Painted Woman," came to America from Warsaw, Russian Poland, six years ago to become the star of the Polaris Bergers, and so great was her popularity that Whitworth Ames, one of America's foremost producers, lunched her in his great production of "Panther" at the Booth theatre, New York, as the star, and since that time in leaps and bounds she has gone forward until she occupies the unique position of being America's foremost dramatic actress. After only three years on the dramatic stage.

Mme. Petrova made her screen debut in Popular Plays and Players production of "The Tigress" and so remarkable was her success in that picture that she was immediately placed under contract by the Popular Plays and Players company to appear in a series of twelve pictures, covering a period of two years. "The Heart of a Painted Woman," which comes to the Columbia tonight, is the second of the series. "The Heart of a Painted Woman" is in five parts and two hundred scenes, and is said to be one of the most gripping and artistic motion picture productions. No advance in price for this great picture production.

First show at 6:30.

For tomorrow, Thursday, Manager Tynes announces "Hamlet," Shakespeare's great masterpiece, with Sir J. Forbes Robertson as Hamlet and Gertrude Elliott as Ophelia, in a four reel reproduction of this immortal play, supported by the entire Drury Lane company.

This picture is the first production of the Knickerbocker Star Picture company and special pains and care has been taken in making this first picture a most excellent photoplay.

You will notice that the two stars, Sir J. Forbes Robertson and Gertrude Elliott, who were selected as principals in this picture masterpiece, are two of the greatest in this country, and if you enjoy the very highest class in acting you certainly can't afford to miss this great picture tomorrow.

Thrilling War Drama At Aronaa Tonight

A four-reel thrilling war drama, entitled "Court-Martialed," will be produced at the Aronaa Theatre tonight. Manager Potts guarantees "Court-Martialed" to be one of the most thrilling and highly sensational war dramas ever shown in this city. Manager Potts will be pleased to reserve seats for old soldiers or members of patriotic organizations. There is no question but tonight's play will be one of the biggest war features ever shown on a local screen. Tomorrow (Thursday) Charlie Chaplin will be seen in one of his uproariously funny farces. The admission price at the Aronaa Theatre is always five cents, where classy productions and big features are being shown with consistent regularity these days. Come tonight and see a great show.

At The Pastime

Six reels of especially good pictures will be the attraction at the Pastime theatre in Seasideville, Thursday night. Charlie Chaplin,

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sores in the stomach much like garbage; sores in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflame the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour foams or have heartburn, flatulence, water brash or nausea. He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effecting and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mucus, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

the funny man, will be seen in "The Tramp" a rip roaring comedy. This is a two reel Essauy feature and all who have seen the Essauy pictures know just what they are. It is a rich comedy so don't miss it. "Pates and Engative" is a two reel drama that is also on the program. It is a Lubin special. "Inexpensive Economy" is a one reel Edison. "A Militant Schoolman" is a Selig drama.

At The Exhibit

Tonight is comedy night at the Exhibit theatre as Manager Law is offering another one of those exceedingly funny comedies produced by the Keystone people. You can go far and wide but you will never find any better comedies than the Keystone people produce.

"Fatty's Plucky Pup" is the title of tonight's special feature. It is a rip roaring comedy—a screen from start to finish. Fatty Arbuckle is taking the leading role and he is the greatest heavy-weight comedian of them all. Don't miss tonight's feature at the Exhibit.

At The Majestic

"In His Daddy's Footsteps" is a two reel dramatic production that is being offered at the Majestic theatre tonight. Many good pictures are being thrown on the screen at the Majestic. Tonight's picture is an exceptionally good one and all who see it will enjoy the films to the utmost. In addition there is a first rate comedy. The house is cool and the admission very small. Just the place for an evening's entertainment.

Strand Theatre.

Be sure to see Frances Nelson, Herbert Hingley, Al Houbert in the realistic two reel drama "The Pursuit of Happiness." This beautiful story which is a dream drama turns out a reality in which the girl in the story finds and marries the man of her dream. Another reel called "No Sump" is a Jaker comedy. Another picture is on of Homer Gray's celebrated educational pictures. Another reel is a Sterling comedy that is guaranteed to make you laugh until your sides ache. Tomorrow we will show "A Modern Enoch Arden" in three reels.

Temple Theatre.

Murder is an ugly word but there is no limit to the actions of some men when actuated by a great passion such as hatred, greed, jealousy or love. All of these sway in turn the destinies of Pearl White the brave and beautiful heroine of the "Exploits of Elaine," the greatest picture story written, here tonight, the fourth is a romantic adventure of an imaginative girl featuring Thomas Jefferson and Clara Anderson in two parts.

At The Scenic

Tonight's big feature at the Scenic is the Lubin three reel production entitled "The White Mask," featuring Lillian Leslie and Joseph Smiley. It is a powerful drama of love and intrigue that will please the most critical. "The Taming of Rita," a Vitagraph comedy drama, featuring Margaret Gibson, Jack Mower and Anne Shafer. A dandy four reel program that you had better see tomorrow's headline is the Lubin three reel drama "The Blasted Miracle," featuring Ethel Clayton and Joseph Kaufman.

THE TOW PATH AGAIN.

In commenting upon the tow path road the other day we said that while we were not an engineer, it did seem to us that it would have been better to have built a straight road from the bridge to the hill, with Y approaches at the hill to accommodate the Union Mills and the Buena Vista pike travelers. Now we believe that we are somewhat of an engineer for we find that City Engineer George Wilhelm, at that time county engineer, had the same idea and recommended it to the commissioners for consideration. Under date of June 11th, 1913, Engineer Wilhelm submitted to the commissioners a memorandum on this roadway in which he used the following language:

"If the tow path road is produced straight through to the hill road from the vicinity of Elbow Lock, with adequate openings for flood water, the water will go where nature intended it should; the road would be protected from wash and the people both north and south from the end at Hill road, would be provided with a road which would work the minimum of hardship for each in the matter of extra travel. In this event an approach road would have to be built to the south in the vicinity of the Elbow Lock so that people who attend crops in the vicinity of the Scioto river and the Old Bed may have access to their lands."

"I would suggest that before the bids on the tow path road are asked for, that your body, with the prosecutor and whoever else whose advice you may wish to have in the matter, go over the situation on the ground itself, and decide what is the best thing to do. It appears to me that a road straight to the Hill road from the Elbow Lock vicinity be built. At least a survey should be made showing at what cost and advantage, or otherwise, this road would be to the general public. That part of the tow path between 'The Bridge' and Elbow Lock can be let, as originally intended. The balance may be deferred until you have studied the situation more thoroughly, and have the survey and cost of estimate of a road straight to the Hill road to compare with the cost of repairs to the second section from Elbow Lock to Union Mills."

Such were Engineer Wilhelm's recommendations and had they been carried out we believe that we would have had a better road, a more serviceable road, and one that could have been built on a level with the bridge at a cost less than the roads now being built. The commissioners, in the consideration of this project, were confronted with clamorous objections from some interested property holders who wanted the Union Mills roadway regardless of cost or general good and as a compromise they decided to rebuild the entire tow path and also to build a side road from Elbow Lock to the Hill road, abandoning the old river road to the Infirmary. They undoubtedly felt that they were doing the best under the circumstances, and it was a hard matter to decide. Any one who goes over the ground now, will, we believe, come to the conclusion that Engineer Wilhelm's recommendation would have been the ideal solution, and would have given a better road and better service to the greater number of people.

THEORY AND PRACTICE.

Not long ago we were out in a machine with a friend up at Gallopis and the talk turned to a recent holdup of an automobile party by a bandit. We remember one of the party said that he would never be caught in that manner, for at the first sign of a robber he would throw his machine into high speed and keep the robber so busy trying to dodge that he would not have time to shoot, and then when he had him properly bewildered, he would scoot away. Well Doc and his car whom he lovingly calls "Old Kate" had their little holdup Sunday last. There wasn't any dodging though to speak of. "Old Kate" just meekly came to a stop while the robber interviewed Doc to his heart's content. Then he, the robber, said "Git", and "Old Kate" and Doc "got." They didn't stop "a gittin'" either until they reached town whereupon Doc did like any other Christian automobilist would do. He hunted up a policeman and told his troubles to him. The kind policeman went out and gathered in the robber and he now reposes in a cell of the Gallia county jail, a warning to all who would wander from the straight and narrow path.

We congratulate our friend, the Doctor, upon his good judgment. It is a lot more satisfaction to have a theory exploded and live to tell about it than it would be to try it out and have one's friends writing eulogies on a dead hero.

The Honorable James Crain, standing just opposite our office window yesterday morning, expressed the opinion privately for public consumption, that he failed to see wherein any of "that bunch of Republican candidates for mayor were gettin' anywhere." Mr. Crain further remarked that in his opinion they were "all tied to a post and he hated to see people wastin' so much energy in hot weather when nothin' would come from all the hustlin' but the pip." A little cruel in James to talk that way about our perspiring patriots, but there's a lot of truth in the remark.

Really though the only fellows who are getting excited about the Republican nomination for mayor are the candidates and their immediate backers. The rest of us find it too hot to grow excited.

Jackson is having a fair this week. The dates are July 27, 28, 29 and 30. If you can spare the time drop over and see it.

BUTTERMILK AND BACTERIA.

(Journal of The American Medical Association.)

The popularity of buttermilk as a food and a beverage is attested by its widespread sale. Any drink which can succeed in invading the precincts of the saloon and compete for sale, as buttermilk now does, side by side with alcoholic beverages deserves attention. The plan of allowing milk to undergo fermentation of such a character that the products are not unpleasant or unwholesome for human consumption, yet serve as preservatives to prevent undesirable types of decomposition, is not new. The fermentation product chiefly depended on in such cases is lactic acid, although, in certain types, alcoholic fermentation may also be in evidence. Buttermilk belongs to the acid type; it usually contains from 0.6 to 0.9 per cent of acid. Strictly speaking, buttermilk is a by-product of butter-making; but with the development of the milk industries, the demand for buttermilk has frequently been met by fermenting the skim or separator milk which remains as a by-product of the cream trade. The fermented product is not literally buttermilk, but it may be indistinguishable from the latter in composition and properties. The use of these fermented milk products has been favored, not alone for their intrinsic food value, but also for accessory reasons. The specific fermentation products have been reputed to have a "tonic" action in the digestive tract. Special virtues have been attributed to the lactic acid bacteria, particularly in relation to putrefactive changes in the alimentary tract. Aside from any alleged therapeutic virtues, there can be no doubt of the nutritive value of the beverages. With the growing attention devoted to the bacteria which milk may harbor, and the recognition of the dangers which they may entail, it is not strange that buttermilk also should demand bacteriologic consideration. Heinemann, of the Department of Bacteriology and Hygiene at the University of Chicago, has demonstrated that the presence of lactic acid in milk will destroy the germs of dysentery, typhoid, diphtheria and cholera. The slower milk sours, the greater is the danger of disease germs surviving. Acids other than lactic acid are frequently present in buttermilk. This beverage, Heinemann reminds us, should therefore be looked on with suspicion, especially if heavily polluted, unless it has been prepared from pasteurized milk. There is, however, says the Journal of the American Medical Association, a remnant of satisfaction to all lovers of the fermented product to learn that the chances of buttermilk becoming a carrier of infection are small.

The increasing number of automobile accidents in Portsmouth shows the necessity for more stringent enforcement of the traffic rules. If a few offenders, and there are comparatively few after all who are causing the trouble, if a few were to get what they deserve, the streets would be safe for the rest of the community.

Funny things keep right on happening even in the most trying times and here's our distinguished guest, Cap'n Hobson, criticising the latest note to the Imperial German government on the ground that it sounds too much like a challenge to fight, says the Ohio State Journal. That's not funny. It's serious with Rich. P. H. He makes his living talking about war. The real article would put him out of business.

OLD NEW YORK
By C. J. Morgan

New York, July 28.—A most unique dancing event took place in New York last week when the graduates of the Chalf Normal School of Dancing held their commencement exercises in the spacious Leslie Hall in the Eighties. The graduates are the pick of the dancing instructors from all over the United States.

They come to New York each year to learn what is going to be done in dancing for the next year and how to do it under the tutelage of Louis H. Chalf, the Russian dancer who for years danced for the Czar and was the favorite of the Russian Imperial Ballet.

Chalf was the man who was responsible for the clean-up of the dancing resorts of the vulgar, suggestive dances. He has fought them for years and insists that the art of Terpsichore should be put on the highest plane.

At the commencement exercises it was shown that the dances next year are to be simple, plain and graceful and away from the buny-hug, razzle dazzle, hop skips and pumps. Karl Heinrich, who is a recital exhibition dancer, was one of the striking pupils of Chalf and another feature was the participation of men generally in the work. Male work is rare in American dancing and quite typical of the Russian.

In the outer office of Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph Office, is a framed sign: "What are the facts?" This is Carlton's way of expressing to those who wish to see him that he wants them to know what they want to say and how to say it when they get into his office.

T. A. Dorgan, the cartoonist, was trying to hire a chauffeur the other day and went about it in his usually breezy style. When the first applicant appeared "Tad" said:

"Of course I want a man who can speak French, play pinochle, curry a horse and make a Jack Rose cocktail."

"Well, I can do 'em all and still have a few tricks left up my sleeve," said the chauffeur quite modestly.

"Tad" looked him over and then said suddenly: "I don't know. When I lamp your face and see your horn painted up that way it strikes me that you are a hard drinker and I don't want any hard drinkers driving a car with me and running me over a cliff."

"You're wrong," said the driver. "I am not a hard drinker. It comes easy to me."

Yonder in the wilds of Brooklyn Mr. Moe Leavitt, a gentleman with a temper, have a care sir, was arrested on a charge of assault preferred by Mr. Philip Match. Now Alan Dale, the dramatic critic who has left Mr. Hearst to write for the Brooklyn Times, wonders whether our liberties are becoming so limited that it is regarded as an offense to strike a Match.

The motion picture companies are not only going after the big stars but are now engaging regular dramatists to write their film scenarios. Lee Arthur who helped write "The Auctioneer" is writing for the Edison Company and is not finding it at all hard to grind out $1,500 worth of film thrills monthly. Other big playwrights have been approached. A few years may find the majority of the dramatists writing scenarios—you never can tell as Abeldard said to Heloise.

The summer season is on in the subway. The guards in their white duck suits are undergoing the most severe trial of their year for only those with the subway habit know how hot it is underground. The ventilation is very bad and only the most rugged employees can stand the work without feeling the after effects.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, July 28.—The spirited buying movement continued with the opening of the stock market today. The highly favorable quarterly report of the U. S. Steel Corporation was reflected in a heavy demand for that stock, which opened with a block of 12,000 shares from 65 1/4 to 66 as compared with yesterday's close of 65 1/4. Later it advanced to 66 1/4; this highest since the suspension of the dividend. Railroad shares retained their newly developed strength with Eastern roads the particular favorites. New Haven gained 2 1/2 and Pennsylvania, Reading and Canadian Pacific one. Among the war stocks there was a further rise. Bethlehem Steel rose 15 points to 262 and Crucible Steel 2 1/2 to 25 1/2, both new high records.

Specialties were bid up further to facilitate distribution of the standard railroad stocks which declined to below yesterday's closing. Crucible steel soared 15 1/2 points to 65. The closing was irregular.

The popularity of war shares as speculative mediums increased today, total transactions exceeding 1,000,000 shares. The general industrial group showed material strength. Railroad issues suffered from intermittent profit taking.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, July 28.—Unfavorable weather and a forecast of adverse conditions brought about an advance today in the price of wheat. Reports from South Dakota telling of black rust damage counted also against the bears. At first, however, the market displayed some hesitancy in consequence of lower quotations at Liverpool. Opening prices here, which varied from 1/4 off to 1/2 up, were followed by a decided advance all around and then a moderate reaction.

Corn responded to the strength of wheat and to the influence of unfavorable weather. Buying came chiefly from houses with country connections. After opening 1/4 to 1/2 higher, the market scored addition gains.

Pearl Was Very Handy With His Trusty Knife

Pearl McGraw of Wamsley, Adams county, O., was the name and address given by a young man who came to grief at the hands of the police Wednesday afternoon. He had been bowling 'em up quite lively at North End saloons when a stranger displaying a detective's badge took him in tow, but offered to release him for $5. McGraw instead whipped out his knife and began slashing at the other putting him to rout. McGraw next turned up at the Martin Hotel saloon and became so noisy that he was invited to leave. Returning later he began flourishing his knife and started to attack the bartender but was ejected bodily from the place. Officer Dennis Burns placing him under arrest. He claimed to be on his way to Fire Brick, Ky., to take employment on the government dam.

'Twill "Smooth the wrinkled brow of care"

Music will make a new man of you!

Think of being able to sit right down and play anything your fancy suggests from the latest ragtime, the hit of the moment, bits from the comic opera you enjoyed so much, or the dear old-live-forever melodies your mother sang, to the world's greatest musical classics! All of these shall be at your very finger tips, even though you don't know one note from another, if you possess a Pianola!

The Pianola Is for You!

The Pianola is not an ordinary "player-piano" that makes music a matter of mechanics. It is far different and better.

Scores of player-pianos are on the market, and some of them have a certain degree of merit—but there is only ONE Pianola. It is made by the Aeolian Company, owners of the fundamental patents for the improvements that make real music possible through a player-action.

The Pianola gives you the fingering ability, and through the wonderful Metrostyle and Themodist enables you to put expression—your own feeling—into the music you play. Without this, there can be no lasting enjoyment.

That piano standing in your living-room—it's a handsome piece of furniture, no doubt, but how much real enjoyment has it brought to YOU? Why don't you exchange it for a Pianola that you can play?

Do this and you shall have music of your own making tomorrow evening.

After you have exhausted the music with which you are familiar, the Pianola will lead you on and on and teach you how to get the most out of the great mass of worth-while compositions which are now a sealed book to you—hundreds, and even thousands of delightful pieces written by the masters of melody for your entertainment.

SPECIAL DEMONSTRATIONS OF THE LATEST MODELS OF THE PIANOLA PIANOS WILL BE GIVEN AT THE WARE-ROOMS OF THE

STANDARD OIL STRIKE COMES TO AN END

New York, July 28.—The strike at the Bayonne, N. J., plants of the Standard Oil and Tidewater Oil companies ended today when virtually every man who walked out ten days ago returned to work. The plants of the Vacuum Oil and General Chemical companies which were closed during the riots in which three strikers were killed also resumed operations today.

Instead of the large armed forces which have been used by Sheriff Kincaid during the strike, only a few policemen were in evidence about the gates of oil plants today. The men appeared glad to resume work but there was no excitement. Jeremiah J. Bally, who led the strike until arrested in an automobile with the sheriff and watched the men return to work. He was released today. The sheriff also said he would release Frank Tannenbaum the I. W. W. leader arrested last week.

THIRTY ARE DETAINED

At noon the latest figures on the dead and missing were:

Identified dead 826; unidentified dead 5; Western Electric company's list of missing 531; total 1,362.

What happened in the engine room of the Eastland in the seventeen minutes before the steamer overturned last Saturday morning was told at the coroner's inquest today.

Fred S. Snow, assistant engineer said that he and Chief Engineer J. M. Eriksen were busy trying to trim the ship and restore it to a keel by pumping water in the starboard or dock side water ballast tanks and at the same time trying to empty the tanks on the riverside.

Snow said he had been on the Eastland two days and had worked as engineer on lake boats for ten years but never on boats having water ballast tanks similar to the Eastland.

"There were five water ballast tanks on each side of the Eastland," said Snow. "That morning when the boats were loaded we started to fill tanks 2-3 on the dock side and to empty tanks 2 and 3 on the river side."

"Why did you work only on tanks 2 and 3 instead of on all?" asked Assistant State's Attorney Sullivan.

"There were two reasons," said Snow. "The intake pipe would not fill at once and tanks 2 and 3 were supposed to respond more quickly than the others."

"Were the ballast tanks full or empty when you tied up at the dock that morning?"

"I don't know. There was nothing in the engine room which would indicate whether the tanks were full or empty. It was customary to empty the tanks when the ship docked, then we knew how much water we had."

The witness said he did not know how long it would take to fill the ballast tanks and trim the ship. He said he did not think it necessary for the engineer of such a ship as the Eastland to know how long it would take to fill the ballast tanks. Snow said he did not know how much water the ballast tanks held.

"The vessel first listed to the dock side and we let water into the tanks on the river side. Then when the loading became heavier she listed to the riverside and we began to fill the dock side tanks and empty the port or river side tanks," Snow said he left the vessel when the list became so great that water poured into the gangway.

Describing the efforts to fill the starboard tanks Snow said:

"We had pumped out the tank and began to fill the starboard tanks when Mr. Eriksen said: 'I think its catching' meaning that the intake was working. We had no idea that the tanks were not filling."

Chicago, July 28.—Mayor William Hale Thompson who was visiting the Panama-Pacific Exposition at the time of the Eastland disaster, returned to Chicago today and went immediately to the city hall where he held a conference with department heads. In a drizzling rain Chicago today paid tribute to the Eastland dead.

The day had been set aside by the city for funeral services for more than six hundred persons who went down with the Eastland and whose bodies were recovered.

Mayor Thompson had issued a proclamation declaring a public mourning; the Board of Trade held a short session and adjourned, ball games were postponed and many large and small business houses closed. Flags were at half mast while city and county officials were closed. As the solemn processions passed through the streets heads were bared and as the little churches where many of the bodies were taken would accommodate only a few, the overflow crowds paid homage on the outside, giving little heed to the inclement weather.

Automobile trucks were used to carry bodies as there were not enough hearses to go round. On 25th street a huge truck passed. On the driver's seat was a man in a silk hat, white gloves and frock coat. Inside were three bodies—a family. On 48th avenue, a hay rack, draped with crepe and driven by a silk-hatted man, passed. It contained two bodies.

Mistaken identity halted one funeral today. "Who are you looking for?" asked a policeman at the morgue as a boy walked in and looked anxiously about.

"Mary Morgan," came the answer.

"Mary Morgan has already been identified and her body has been taken home," said the officer.

"I know all about that," said the boy, "but the body at Morgan's is not Mary."

A short time later the boy identified Mary Morgan's body as one that had been brought from the river on Monday. The mistaken identification had been made by her own father.

The wrecking boat Favorite, said to be one of the largest and best equipped of its kind, began the task of raising the half submerged Eastland today, and federal officials replaced the police in charge of the wreck. It will take ten days to raise the boat, according to those in charge. While this is going on, forty divers will search the river bottom for a radius of two blocks from the point where the boat capsized. One more body was recovered early today.

LETTER TELLS OF HORROR IN THE DARDANELLES

Writer Says He Saw Dozen Of Hospital Ships At Time Full Of Wounded Soldiers

Mrs. Christian Hansen of 1532 Seventh street, is in receipt of an interesting letter from her brother, Leonard Carlburg, who was recently transferred to the United States Battleship Tennessee. It was mailed in Alexandria, Egypt, July 2.

"I left the United States on March 14 on the U. S. S. Vulcan for Post Jafa Palestine with a cargo of relief goods and food for the starving Jews and upon our arrival in Alexandria I was transferred to the Tennessee for further duty," writes Mr. Carlburg to his sister here.

"Every place I have visited there is war and soldiers, but there is no liberty for the men on our ship. The ports are already overcrowded with military men without adding our own crew of 700. We were stationed in Beirut, Turkey, for over two months without a word from home and no mail left for home. We left Beirut June 27 with our homeward bound pennant flying. Upon leaving Beirut we stopped and took aboard 800 Italians, French and Bulgarians, refugees leaving Turkey. Later in Palestine we took aboard 400 Jew refugees, making 1200 beside our own crew of 700 men, most of them being women and children. You can give the American bluejacket credit, he might be a 'roughneck' on shore, but aboard his ship he is a perfect gentleman. You could see bluejackets all over our ship with babies in their arms, rather a strange sight for a man of war. I had the whole bunch to feed as I lay all the food supplies, so you can imagine what a job I had on my hands.

"These people stayed nearly a week and they did not like to leave.

Tells Of The Horrors He Saw
"The things a person sees here tires him of war. I saw hospital ships in rows of a dozen at a time coming in from the Dardanelles loaded to the last bit of space with wounded men, some with legs missing, some without arms, some whose eyesights were gone and the smell of these poor men would sicken you. They had laid for days on the battle field without medical attention and only first aid had been administered. Some had old bandages on with the blood caked and others were infected with gangrene.

"That was only a little of the misery that I saw, but you can imagine how many men will go through life crippled because of the war. And where one was wounded in the attempt to force the Dardanelles there were killed outright.

"We leave here for Barcelona, Spain, where we sail for the United States and believe me I will be glad to get back to the dear old U. S. A. This is by far the worst service I have ever performed since being a member of Uncle Sam's navy," said Mr. Carlburg in conclusion.

Mr. Carlburg has been in the U. S. navy about ten years. He was married about a year ago in Philadelphia.

STATE OFFICIAL IS GIVEN COMPLIMENT
Columbus, July 28.—E. R. Deffenbaugh, of Lancaster, state fire marshal for the past two years, who was succeeded by Bert Buckley last week, is commended highly for the efficiency of his department, in a report of State Examiner John A. Bliss made public today.

Referring to Mr. Deffenbaugh's administration, Examiner Bliss said:

"Previous to his induction into office, the position of state fire marshal was looked on as a joke, but by his untiring energy and business methods he has raised it to so high a degree of efficiency that other states are now copying his systematic method of conducting the business of the office."

AMERICAN SHIP LEELANAW, SUNK BY GERMAN SUBMARINE

The Leelanaw.

Destruction of the Leelanaw, an American freighter, by a German submarine on July 25 does not put any new angle into America's controversy with Germany, is the belief of official Washington, following reports that the Leelanaw's crew was permitted to reach safety. The Leelanaw was bound for Belfast with a cargo of fax. Germany claims that she has a right to sink American vessels as long as she agrees to pay damages.

Say Germans Were Courteous To Victims Of U. S. Vessel

Aberdeen (via London) July 28.—"They could not have treated us more courteously than they did," was the unanimous verdict of Captain Eugene Delk and the members of the crew of the American steamer Leelanaw when questioned last night regarding their encounter with a German submarine. They traveled about sixty miles on the deck of the submarine and became well acquainted with its crew, several of whom had been in America. One member of the Leelanaw's crew remained aboard the submarine at his own request. He was one of the mess boys of the American ship and as he was of German nationality preferred joining the crew of the underwater craft to the probability of internment in England. At Kirkwall another of the Leelanaw's mess boys was found to be a German and was detained.

Captain Delk, a resident of Philadelphia, made a matter-of-fact statement regarding the sinking of his ship, and was not inclined to add details to the main facts as he outlined them. "We stopped when a shot was fired behind us," he said, "and then we had to leave. Our ship was shelled, bombed and torpedoed, but it took an hour and a half to sink her. The Germans took us aboard the submarine, carrying us about sixty miles and then gave us directions for coming to Kirkwall, which we reached safely in about twelve hours. The members of the crew, of whom there are 35 besides the captain, explained that the German commander apologized for the necessity of sinking the ship, but said it was forced upon him by the fact that the Leelanaw was carrying contraband of war and he was not in the habit of throwing overboard contraband cargoes.

The crew of the German boat conversed affably in good English with the Leelanaw's men. The Germans had no idea of the contents of the latest American note on the sinking of the Lusitania for their newspapers were two days old. The Leelanaw was the sixth vessel the submarine had sunk that day and it started in pursuit of two others when the Americans had been returned to their boats after their long ride on the submarine's deck.

The sailors from the Leelanaw were cold and wet when they landed after their twelve hours row in lifeboats as they had been almost swamped several times in cross-tides off the Orkney Islands. They will leave today for Dundee where their statements will be taken by the United States consul.

Radium Production On Sound Basis Now

Washington, July 28.—Production of radium from Colorado Cinnabars by the bureau of mines in connection with the national radium institute, has passed the experimental stage and is now on a successful manufacturing basis. The secretary said he had been informed that the cost of one gram of radium metal produced in the form of bromide during March, April and May last, was $36,950. This included all expenses incident to production.

"When it is considered that radium has been selling for $112,000 and $116,000 a gram," said Mr. Lane.

ARCHBISHOP INSTALLED

San Francisco, July 28.—Most Rev. J. Edward Hanna, was installed as archbishop of San Francisco today with impressive ceremonies. He succeeds Archbishop Riordan, who died December 27, 1914, after a service of thirty-one years. A distinguished gathering of clergy, headed by Most Rev. John Bosano, D. D., apostolic delegate to the United States, participated in the ceremony.

Savings Boosted

Petrograd, Russia, July 28.—M. Bark, Russian minister of finance, says that the returns of the savings banks to the beginning of July showed $900,000,000 above last year, which is almost the same amount as the treasury lost through revenues which ceased when prohibition of the sale of intoxicants went into effect.

Sciotoville Visitor

L. F. Lechner, of Sciotoville, was a business visitor in the city Wednesday.

The police officials have received complaints about an abundance of weeds in the vicinity of the Eighth street viaduct.

Bryan, O., July 28.—Oscar Garrough, colored, posing as an evangelist student for two months at Montpelier, is in the county jail today on a charge of selling whiskey. He was fined $200 and costs, and being unable to pay, went to jail. He was a constant reader of the Bible and could quote chapter after chapter.

BECKER MAY GET ANOTHER RESPITE

New York, July 28.—Decision that Justice Ford would hear witnesses in behalf of Becker, but that the governor declined to confirm them. No confirmation could be obtained from Justice Ford and District Attorney Perkins was quoted as saying that he knew nothing at all about it. Becker's execution has now been set for Friday morning but it was understood today that if Justice Ford decided to allow Becker to testify in support of his application for a new trial, it would be necessary to obtain another reprieve for the condemned man.

Becker, in the death house at Sing Sing while awaiting anxiously Justice Ford's decision, was said to be preparing a new statement to be made public only after his death. It was said that this was not a confession of guilt or graft but a reassertion of his innocence.

WON'T TELL PLANS FOR DEFENSE YET

Washington, July 28.—Details of the administration's program of national defense now being formulated will not be given out until completed if Secretary Garrison can prevent it. This is made clear in a statement issued by the secretary and published today in which he urged that he would not be pressed for details until the new military policy is ready to be laid before the public.

Fears that adverse criticisms of parts of the scheme might endanger it as a whole is given as the reason by Mr. Garrison. He said that he had refrained from discussing the subject because he felt that the effect would be more likely to do harm than good.

Plans for the reorganization of the army, now being worked out by the general staff will be laid before President Wilson next week by the secretary.

Ask my customers about my work, Brehrer, the Painter.

Ohio Embalmers To Pay Back Expenses

Columbus, July 28.—Members of the state board of embalming examiners between 1902 and now, will have to return to the state a total of $3,500, according to a report of findings against them made today by State Examiner A. B. Dawson. In those years this is the first examination of the board's accounts that has been made and State Auditor Denahy offered this comment on the report:

"The state of Ohio should be censured instead of these men."

Members, or former members, against whom findings are made are: R. E. Jones, Columbus, W. E. Bateman, Zanesville, $763; C. J. Rupp, Sandusky, $683; George Bilow, Akron, $804; C. H. Senger, Alliance, $413; Dr. C. O. Probst, Columbus, $40; W. F. Cary, Millersburg, $139; H. H. Shaw, Columbus, $205; board as a whole, $303. Shaw is secretary and member of the present board, together with Cary and J. T. Arnold, of Canton. The report covers a period before Arnold was appointed.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, ailments, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 60.

every one likes to know the cause of sudden breaks in friendships, for so often some interfering person has said or done something to bring about this result.

Dear Miss Wise.—When a man shows no inclination to accept two invitations to call, would you deem it proper to extend a third?

ELISE.
If the man has not availed himself of the two opportunities offered him you should not extend a third invitation to him. Let him ask permission if he desires to call.

Dear Miss Wise.—When riding in a summer car should a girl hold her escort's hat?
JULIA.
No. The man should be capable of taking care of his hat himself.

Dear Miss Wise.—When is the best time to plant tulips?

CAREY'S RUN.
Tulips are raised from bulbs. As soon as the flowers are done blooming, take up the bulbs and keep them in a dry, cool place until fall. Plant them when the weather is cold enough to keep them from growing, usually in October, and they will come up early in the spring.

Dear Dolly Wise.—I have been going with a boy for five months and he stopped calling on me without any reason that I know of. Please advise me what to do, as I love him and do not want to give him up.

WORRIED.
Since you have done nothing to offend him, it is his place to make explanations if he wishes to renew the acquaintanceship.

Dear Miss Wise.—My husband works in another town, leaving me and our child with his people. He makes excuses when I ask to join him. Give me some advice as to how I can persuade him that my place is with him.

TERMINALS.
Can you not appeal to him through his love for the child? Let him know that it needs a father as well as a mother. And make him see that you miss him and desire to be with him.

Dear Miss Wise.—I had a friend and he had been quite friendly with me for quite a while. Now he doesn't speak to me, and I do not know why. Would you advise me to speak to him or just let him have his way?

M. W.
If his friendship means much to you, you might write him a note asking the reason for his ignoring you. Should he send no reply to your note, do not trouble yourself to write again. I think who has been in Portsmouth for the last year has shown me rather pronounced attentions ever since his arrival, and while we were not engaged, he has implied many times that he would rather I did not accept attentions from other men. Now I understand he is engaged to a girl from his own town, and that they are to be married in September. He has not told me, and has continued coming to see me as before. I hesitated asking him about it, because I do not want him to know how it would hurt me if it were so, and I know I would be sure to do something foolish if he were to tell me it was true.

HARRIET.
It is too bad you allowed him to monopolize your time, but that can't be helped now. If the man is really to be married in September, you can be glad it is not to you, because any man who would treat two girls, you and the one to whom he is engaged, the way he evidently has, is pretty sure to make a husband that a wife could not trust. However, I should most certainly ask him about it without delay. I think since you have had time to think it over, that you will be able to school yourself to show no more than friendly interest.

Dear Miss Wise.—A young man

SOCIETY

Mrs. William Hamilton went home today to Fairbairn, Ohio, after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hitchcock.

A wedding of interest in Portsmouth occurred in Ironton, Tuesday. The following account is taken from the Ironton Register:

"Miss Ethel Brumberg and Mr. David Rosenthal, of Cincinnati, O., were principals in a pretty wedding celebrated today at 11:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. J. Brumberg, of South Second street. Beneath a canopy of ferns and palms, the bride leaning upon the arm of her brother, Aaron Brumberg, was met by the groom and his best man, Mr. Ben Rosenthal, where Dr. Meisner, of Cincinnati, pronounced them man and wife. Edith Simon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Simon, of El Paso, Texas, and niece of the bride, was ring-bearer. The bride wore a gown of white crepe-de-chine with over-dress of chantilly lace and trimmings, which was simple and exquisite, and a tulle veil worn by her mother thirty-five years ago at her wedding. White roses and lilies of the valley were carried by the bride. Miss Anselm Brumberg, sister of the bride, played the wedding march. Only a small company of relatives attended the wedding and breakfast. The table was decorated with smilax, roses and ferns. All of the door-ways were curtained with smilax and in each room wicker baskets were filled with beautiful roses. The bride is one of Ironton's prominent young ladies, having taught in the Ironton High School for some time. She is cultured, refined and prepossessing in appearance.

Mr. Rosenthal is the superintendent and one of the partners of a large chewing gum factory in Cincinnati, where they will make their future home after September first. Until that time they will travel through the East, visiting many places of interest. The bride's traveling suit was of blue pussy willow taffeta, with blue and white hat to match.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Adams and Mrs. Geneva Metzler motored to Wheelersburg, Tuesday evening and took dinner at the Baker house.

Misses Sarah and Margaret Martin of Crewe, Va., are here visiting their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Martin of 920 Ninth street.

Mr. Edwin Gableman left Wednesday for Waverly, where he will visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Gableman, the rest of the week.

Rigdon Hall, of the firm of Hall Bros., will leave next week for New York, where he will spend most of the month of August. He will be the guest of Ted Wilhelm, a former Portsmouth boy.

Miss Helen Dunn and a party of young women, Misses Lucile Tracy, Janice Layn and Mildred Dunn motored to McMillen's camp on Rosemount Road today and spent the day with Miss Katie McMillen.

Miss Jessie Miller, of Henderson, Ky., is coming the middle of next week to visit at the home of Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Goodwin, on Fourth street.

Miss Martha McGhee, of Wallston, who is visiting among her relatives and friends, is the guest of Mrs. Frank Alger, on Fifth street, this week.

Miss Lou Hauk will go to Toledo, Monday, to visit at the home of Miss Jane Clare.

Miss Isabel Musser has gone to Charleston to spend two weeks with her aunt, Mrs. Ella Matheson.

Mr. and Mrs. David Stahler came in the first of the week from their farm, where they had been spending two weeks, and will return there later for an extended stay.

Mrs. L. M. Richards, of Hutchins street, has as guest her sister, Mrs. W. J. Miller, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kellison, of Fourth street, left today for Chillicothe to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Stork.

Miss Janet Wilson, of Ashland, Ky., is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Paul Dailey, on New Sixth street.

In honor of the thirty-fourth birthday anniversary of Mr. William N. Gableman, manager of the Play House, Mrs. William Gableman planned a complete surprise on her husband Tuesday evening. When Mr. Gableman arrived home at 10 o'clock he found the guests seated around the festal board, with thirty-four candles burning on an immense birthday cake, and he was so completely surprised that he was unable to say a word for a minute or two. It was an elegantly appointed stag dinner, and before the evening's festivities closed Mr. Gableman was presented with a beautiful Knight Templar charm and watch. Those who enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Gableman, who live in a cozy little home at Park and Robinson avenues were Messrs. George and Will Zottman, George, Edward, J. Wesley and Walter Gableman, Horace L. Small, David A. Breinig, Louis Distel and Will P. Minogo.

The business and social session held by the good women of Section Three of the First Christian church, Tuesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Woolam, Eighth and John streets, was a most pronounced success, upwards of seventy-five people being present. Every person present had a most enjoyable time, for the hospitality was genuine and open hearted. The piano selections rendered by Miss Margaret Quinn, Elroy Woolam, Lewis Alderman and Forest Woolam added much to the pleasantness of the occasion. Refreshments consisting of lemonade and home made cake were served, Section Three realizing a nice sum for their Christmas club.

Miss Irene Pugh gave a beautiful north party this afternoon honoring Miss Mae Thomas, of Alliance, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. J. McFarland, on Hutchins street. The porch was prettily decorated in ferns and flowers for the occasion. The afternoon was spent in arduous needlework, after which Miss Pugh was assisted by her mother, Mrs. L. M. Richards, and aunt, Mrs. W. J. Miller, in serving delicious refreshments. The guest list included Mrs. A. J. McFarland, Mrs. W. J. Miller, of Pittsburgh, Pa., Misses Mae Thomas, Ethel McCall, Anna Tracy, Ruth Craigmler, Virginia Fairtrace, Louise Bothwell, of Rome, Va., Erma Watkins and Pauline Oakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dailey entertained a few young people last evening for the pleasure of their guest, Mrs. Janet Wilson, of Ashland, Ky. The evening ended with delicious refreshments. The guest list included Misses Ruth Baker, Katharine Appel, Dorothy Wright, Madeline Ruel, Geneva Huddleson, Messrs. Carl Windel, Orville McCall, Harold Flood, Arthur Carey, Harold Hyron and John Purdam.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dohoney, of Cincinnati, arrived yesterday to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wado S. Kennedy.

Mrs. James Murphy, of Minneapolis, Minn., who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. George Billian, on Seventh street, left today for Chillicothe to visit among relatives.

Jack George, who has been visiting Graves Williams and other friends in Portsmouth, will leave tomorrow for his home in East Palestine.

Miss Annetta Northcott, of Huntington, will entertain with a dance Friday evening at Camden Park. Several young people will go up from Portsmouth for the dance.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Selby will entertain the Dinner Club Thursday evening on the beautiful lawn at the Selby home.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Haldeman and daughters and Mr. Jack George motored to Ironton yesterday and stopped in Wheelersburg for supper.

Mrs. Charles Winter is expected home next week from Detroit, where she has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Marting.

Mrs. Katherine Fitzgerald left today for her home in Ashland, Ky., at the end of a visit with her sister, Mrs. George Krickler.

The K. K. K. girls gave a beautiful "Wild Rose" party this morning at the home of Miss Edna Korth, on Summit street, where the members of the club who graduated in June from the High school were the guests of honor. The decorations were kewpies. A smelling contest was indulged in. Different perfumes, smelling salts and other things were used in the contest. Miss Florence Daehler won the favor, a bottle of perfume. Those present of the graduating class were Misses Anna Tracy, Coneyvire Dupre, Audrey Nourse, Margaret Anderson, Ruth Klingman, Florence Daehler, Mildred Purdum, Margaret Quinn and Alta Marsh. The other members are Misses Evelyn Reed, Edna Korth, Pess Huddleson and Mildred McAfie. Miss Louise Gibbs, who is visiting relatives in Minneapolis, Minn., was the only absentee one. The refreshments were served backwards, the last course being served first.

Leo Krickler has been ill for the past few days at his home on Fourth street.

The executive committee of the East and West Portsmouth Young People's Branch of the W. C. T. U. are requested to meet this evening at 8:45 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. C. Coverston, 1827 Highland avenue, to meet Mrs. Guthrie and receive instructions on the work of the branches.

Mrs. W. S. Walker, entertained at dinner this evening Mr. and Mrs. Wade S. Kennedy and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dohoney and daughter, Dorothy, of Cincinnati.

The Finch Club was delightfully entertained this morning at the home of Mrs. W. S. Walker. Those present were Messdames C. T. Davis, R. B. Cunningham, J. M. Graham, W. L. Bayless, Charles Hawk, George Turley, W. S. Walker, Mrs. Frank Kennedy played in the place of Mrs. Louella Wendelken, who is out of town. The game was followed by delectable refreshments. Mrs. W. L. Bayless will be hostess at the next meeting, August 11th.

Miss Katherine B. Curry, of Ellsworth, Kansas, is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Ira J. Kail, of Huntington.

Dr. S. P. Fetter went to Huntington this afternoon to visit Dr. and Mrs. Ira J. Kail.

MRS. THOMSON TELLS WOMEN

How She Was Helped During Change of Life by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I am just 53 years of age and during Change of Life I suffered for six years terribly. I tried several doctors but none seemed to give me any relief. Every month the pains were intense in both sides, and made me so weak that I had to go to bed. At last a friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me and I tried it at once and found much relief. After that I had no pains at all and could do my household and shopping the same as always. For years I have praised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for what it has done for me, and shall always recommend it as a woman's friend. You are at liberty to use my letter in any way."—Mrs. THOMSON, 610 W. Russell St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to carry women so successfully through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Mrs. Anna Adams said Miss Minnie Carley entertained a number of friends last evening. Early in the evening piano music was rendered by Misses Minnie Carley and Stella Cooper, and later in the evening they formed a theater party at the Sun. Those present were Misses Stella Shope, Stella Cooper, Sadie Shyne, Emma Dinsmore, Minnie Carley and Anna Adams.

Little Maurice Shoemaker, of Peedles, is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Oakes, of Eighth street.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of Manly church met Tuesday afternoon in the church parlors, where there were eighteen members present. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Gilliland, the meeting was presided over by the first vice president, Mrs. Harry Blazer. A short, but interesting program was given as follows:

Reading—"Foreign Regions"—Mrs. Charles Shola.
Reading—"The Chinese Girl"—Mrs. Harry Blazer.
Chapter, "Child Worship"—Mrs. Kate Reizer.

Next month's meeting will also be held in the church parlors.

Mrs. Katherine Bolander, of High street, has gone to Wait's Station for a visit with relatives and friends.

The Misses Vere and Margaret Crawford are nicely settled in their handsome new home, corner of Nineteenth and Hutchins streets. Miss Miriam Crawford, who is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. G. W. Anderson, in Seattle, Wash., is expected home soon.

Mrs. W. D. James, of Wakefield, visited among friends in Portsmouth today.

THE PEACH CROP

This year promises to excel all other years in abundance and quality.

Especially is this true of the PLEASANT RIDGE FRUIT FARM. This highly cultivated orchard, located near Wakefield is the largest and the finest peach orchard in Ohio, and this year will yield more than 20,000 bushels of delicious fruit. The crop is so immense that it has been necessary to spend hundreds of dollars hiring men to pull off the superfluous green peaches in order to save the trees from breaking and at the same time give the selected fruit an opportunity to become perfectly developed.

The fruit will begin ripening about the first of August and will be offered for sale on the corner Gallia and Sinton streets. This will give the good housewives of the city a splendid opportunity to secure their canning peaches and the immense crop of 20,000 bushes will guarantee low prices.

Peaches ripened on the trees have the real peach flavor. They far surpass those picked green for long shipment. Pleasant Ridge Peaches will arrive fresh the day after they are picked and will be in perfect condition.

It will pay you to wait and get the Pleasant Ridge Peaches, which will be sold from the Gallia street salesroom.

WM. TIBBALS, Proprietor.

Man Accused Of Robbery At Wellston Claims He Has Relatives In Portsmouth

The Wellston Sentinel says: Wm. King, a horse-trader residing near Berlin X Roads claims he was robbed by two strangers Monday evening, who succeeded in securing $530 of the coin of the realm which had been in Mr. King's possession until said individuals smoothly slipped it from his pocket.

According to Mr. King's story, the two strangers had approached him, and said they wanted to purchase a colt. He having such an animal already in his possession, started out with them in the buggy, to demonstrate the good qualities of his colt. While driving down Pennsylvania avenue one of the "smooth boys" attempted to relieve him of the filthy lure by extending his hand in the pocket where the money nestled confidentially. Bill having a delicate sense of touch, noticed the extended hand and immediately called him, and accused him of being a thief, at the same time putting the money in another pocket. He was ably seconded by the stranger's partner who became indignant because of his wickedness and refused to ride further in such bad company. Accordingly the wayward man was put out of the buggy and the two drove on along the pike, after they had turned up West 14th street. They drove up the pike gently conversing of the evils of the day and when they were returning city bound, just opposite the County Fair Park, the other stranger jumped out of the buggy and began to beat it towards the Driving Park. Immediately King felt in the pocket where the wallet had been placed but the bundle had vanished. King drove to Wellston and notified the police who began a search for the robber.

After King arrived in the city and had notified the police he entered the Duke Vernon saloon on Railroad avenue—and lo! and behold, before his very eyes were the two strangers with three companions also strangers their clothing changed completely. He immediately accused them of taking his bundle and they started to escape. Out the door they came and two escaped by boarding a freight train. Two of them were captured while the other's whereabouts are unknown. The police lodged the two captured ones in the city hotel but after searching them only about $21 was found on both. King claims the ones who escaped on the freight train had the money, but says the two captured individuals are the ones who were in the buggy with him.

Enter Pleas.
The two above mentioned, appeared before Mayor Nixon this morning and were charged with drunkenness and both pleaded guilty, but emphatically denied that they were guilty of the robbery charge. Both state that they know absolutely nothing of Mr. King.

The youngest giving his name as George B. G. Ian says he was recently employed in the chemistry department of the Goodyear Rubber company at Akron, was humbugging his way searching for work. He claims to have relatives in Portsmouth. He had in his possession $420.35, a small knife and a few letters.

The other is an older man giving his name as George Wm. Ferguson, and says he is a cook. He states that he blew in town, on the Duke Vernon's saloon and after left it to his knowledge when the officer arrested him in front of the saloon. He had in his possession only 50 cents.

E. Jacobs has been asked by the city to serve as their attorney. As soon as the arrangements are made a preliminary hearing will be given them.

Three Auto Crashes; No One Is Injured

While driving his pretty new Newkirk, Jr., who conducts a gro-mountain machine south on Lincoln street, at 5:15 Tuesday afternoon, Roy Gordon, well-known actor, collided with a street car coming west on Eleventh street, at Eleventh and Lincoln streets.

When Mr. Gordon heard the car approaching he tried to turn down Eleventh, but the car side-swiped his machine, but it was not seriously damaged. The front and back fender of the left side of the machine were damaged. Mr. Gordon was driving the car alone and was not injured. He and Mrs. Gordon recently drove their new car through from Baltimore, and in about ten days they will return East in it.

An automobile driven by Homer Selby, of the Selby Shoe company, and a machine driven by William Newkirk, Jr., who conducts a grocery at 1532 Eleventh street, collided at Robinson avenue and Officers streets at 8:30 Tuesday evening. The left front wheel of Mr. Newkirk's machine was torn off and the left fender was damaged. No one was injured. Mr. Selby was driving north on Officers street and Mr. Newkirk was coming west on Robinson avenue when the collision took place.

A salesman, who travels for The Harry Smith Auto Supply company of Columbus, ran his automobile into the underground crossing, just beyond the Four place, on the Scioto Trail, Tuesday night, and his machine was badly damaged, the windshield being broken, one fender was bent and one wheel was torn off. The driver was uninjured.

GAS EXPLODES, BOY IS BURNED

Burns of a serious nature about the head, face and arms were suffered Tuesday afternoon by Lyman, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Lockwood, of 417 Court street, when the oven of a gasoline stove which he was playing around, exploded. Mrs. Roy Lockwood, who was some distance away from the stove, was not injured. She was baking bread for supper when the explosion took place. It is thought it resulted from a leaky burner. Dr. Walter Braunlin was called and dressed the injuries of the Lockwood child. The lad's hair was almost burned off and the flames reached his eyes, but Dr. Braunlin says that the victim's sight was not impaired.

Eagles Shut Out Federals
Playing errorless ball the Eagles blanked the Federals 12 to 0. Miller who started twirling for the Federals was forced to retire in the fifth in favor of Hudson. Twelve runs were scored off Miller on eight hits. Hudson had but one bad inning, when fast holding kept the Eagles from scoring. Wallace was touched up for seven hits and walked five men, although the Federals had been on in every inning but the third, air-tight pitching kept them from scoring. Bernhold had a perfect day at the bat, getting four out of four for the Eagles. The score by innings:
Federals: 000 000 000 - 0 7 3
Eagles: 162 300 000 - 12 13 0
Batteries: Miller, Hudson and H. Davis; C. Wallace and Bernhold.

BAD CHECK MAN SAYS IT
"WAS ALL A MISTAKE"

Leroy Hill, a well-dressed colored young man, who was captured by Officer Callahan Smith after an exciting chase following the discovery that a check he had passed was worthless, threw himself upon the mercy of the court Wednesday, drawing a fine of $25 and costs and a sentence of 60 days in the Cincinnati workhouse.

Hill waived the right of being held to the grand jury. He admitted his guilt, referring to his act as a "mistake." Hill is an embalmer by occupation and formerly lived in Cleveland. He came to Portsmouth from Zanesville and engaged a room at the home of Mrs. Hattie Bryant, colored. On Tuesday morning he tendered her a check for $20.00, she to deduct $2.50 for room rent. Roach & Bierley, grocers, cashed it for her, only to discover soon afterward that the man had no funds with the Portsmouth Banking Company. Mrs. Bryant started on a hunt for him and enlisted the aid of the police to locate him. A merry chase through alleys and yards of the North End followed, a Scotch collie dog once grabbing the negro as he scaled a fence. He was finally found in a crouching position in a small corn patch near the Ackerman building on Thirteenth street. He claimed he had sent the balance of the money by mail to a girl in Covington, Ky., but when searched $14.70 was found concealed in his socks. A railroad ticket to Columbus was also found among his effects.

The court turned the money over to Roach & Bierley. Hill was chased out of the Portsmouth Banking Company's room on Monday afternoon when discovered helping himself to blank checks of all local banks, and after he was unable to give a satisfactory account of himself, but is thought to have concealed one of the check blanks in his hand or coat sleeve.
J. C. D. Anderson, a North End colored merchant, claims that Hill asked him to cash an $18 check Tuesday, but that he declined to do so.

Much Interest In
Y. M. C. A. Services

Evangelist King preached last night at the Y. M. C. A. Tabernacle from the text "Then will I sprinkle clean water upon you and ye shall be clean from all your filthiness, and from all your idols will I cleanse you. A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you; and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh and I will give an heart of flesh. And I will put my spirit within you and cause you to walk in my statutes, and ye shall keep my judgments and do them." Ezekiel 36:25-27.
The evangelist took as his subject "A New Heart" or "What Salvation will do for the lives of men," speaking in part as follows:
"We want to notice tonight the touch of God upon the heart and life of the individual man. If there is anything that God wants, it is a clean people. I want you to notice that pronoun 'I'. That stands for the great God of the universe who does the changing of our hearts. Many people are ignorant enough to say that Salvation has nothing to do with changing the heart. They say it changes the mind, the notion, everything else but changing the heart. We want to study this text from the basis of a heart-felt religion that our grandfathers and grandmothers used to talk about when they met in the old log church house with the little windows out in the sides; when the fathers and mothers and their children walked in together and sat side beside and listened to the preacher who talked of a heart-felt religion, whose eyes would fill with tears and who would get blessed and shout the praises of God as he told of a salvation that would change the hearts of men.
"The bible says from the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh and out of the heart flows the issues of life and if you and I ever live a christian life in this world and the world to come, we are going to live it from our hearts. There must be a radical change of heart whereby old things pass away and behold all things become new. The Holy Spirit changes the heart through faith in the shed blood of Jesus Christ. The reason you don't understand the working of the new heart is because you are not a christian and never will be until you get a new heart. When I received my new heart, I was done with the world, the dance, the theatre, cards, tobacco, Sunday baseball and the whole worldly crowd and I made my way to the prayer meeting room on time and I couldn't wait until prayer meeting time. I would go out in the woods and pray a hole clear through the skies and get blessed in my soul.
"I have not had a hard time serving the Lord since Jesus came into my heart and gave me a new heart. I never brought it. I never traded the world for it. I gave

Automobile Victim
Is In Bad Shape

Morris Copas, the traveling man, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident on the Divide Hill near Lombardsville, Tuesday, was reported doing fairly well at Hempstead hospital, Wednesday morning.
Though he was suffering hemorrhages from the ear and showed other had symptoms when first brought to the hospital, attending physicians do not believe that Copas' skull was fractured. John Reilly, who was with him at the time of the accident, was also laid up at his home on Jefferson street Wednesday, suffering mainly from the severe shaking up he received.
The accident occurred in rounding a sharp curve on the Divide hill between Lombardsville and Henley. The Reilly car was moving at a lively rate when suddenly it began skidding. Seeing he was about to go into a ditch Mr. Reilly swerved the car in an opposite direction and it performed a "flip flop" in the middle of the road, turning over completely. The car, which was considerably damaged, is now at the Robe Cycle Car company's plant for repairs.

GINGER ALE
Cooler Than a Fan

You are not happy when you are hot. Better than a breeze is a bottle of cool, sparkling Cliequot Club Ginger Ale.

You will tense the fresh coolness of shady nooks and deep mountain springs. For Cliequot actually cools you. The very best of Jamaica ginger, pure cane sugar, the juices of lemons and limes, and pure, slightly laxative water drawn from a deep, rocky bed spring are the reasons why. And the large bottle means two long drinks. It is safe when you are overheated.

Have a case in your cellar ready for the hot days. If you like variety, try your hand and see what choice mixed drinks you can make with Cliequot Club Ginger Ale. It mixes well with almost anything drinkable.

BOY IS AGAIN THE VICTIM OF A MYSTERIOUS ASSAULT

Walter Jones, aged 14 years of No. 1616 Grant street, carries a bullet hole in the right side of his coat as a mark of his encounter with a negro highwayman Monday night, and who he firmly believes was the same with whom he grappled in the kitchen of his brother's home last Saturday night.

Young Jones was returning home after running an errand when as he was approaching the Offense street school building a man on the opposite side of the street called to him to seek shelter from the rain in the entrance of the school building. Mistaking the man for a friend Walter stopped. As the other drew close to him he saw it was a negro. He was of the same height and build as the man who attacked him at the home of his brother Benjamin

Jones. The negro covered him with a gun but he took to his heels. The negro fired one shot at him then disappeared down Twelfth street. The boy immediately notified the police but they were unable to find the negro.

Portsmouth Man Formerly Worked On The Eastland

Roy Galloway, chef at the Finkel's cafe and restaurant, was employed for two years as assistant steward on the ill-fated lake steamer, Eastland, the overturning of which caused such an appalling loss of life at Chicago last Saturday.

Galloway was on the Eastland during the years 1911 and 1912, or during the time she was operated between Cleveland and Cedar Point. His superior was Steward Charles Wycoff. Galloway, in speaking of the steamer Wednesday, said she always was considered unsafe because of her faulty construction. "The slightest squall would cause her to roll and wobble around worse than a bucking Texas pony, and that's one reason why I quit my job on her," said Galloway, who learned his trade while playing on the lakes. "They will never be able to convince me that Capt. Peterson was to blame for the disaster, for he was the most careful captain on the lakes. He was always considerate for the safety of his passengers and often refused to go out on days when there were appearances of an approaching storm."

Galloway says he was on the Eastland the night she headed into the backwater at Cedar Point. "The only decent thing on her was her calico," continued he, although declaring that she was a beautiful looking boat and was also speedy, capable of making 21 knots per hour. Her machinery was in the hull, he said, but not low enough down, and as she would draw 25 ft. of water there is little surprise that she listed with all those excursionists aboard her whilst at her dock in the Chicago river, which at best is not more than 25 ft. deep.

Galloway said the Eastland was re-ballasted in 1910, and he was aboard her July 1, 1912, when, owing to immense crowds of excursionists, United States inspectors permitted her to increase her capacity from 2,000 to 2,500.

RIDAPILE

CONES

Germes irritate and enlarge the blood vessels, which creates piles. A new treatment for piles is a recent discovery of a New York Specialist. This scientific remedy contains a powerful non-poisonous germicide and antiseptic which removes the cause that creates piles without inconvenience to the user of these suppositories.

By the use of Ridapile Cones relief is quickly obtained, pain banished, itching immediately ceases; bleeding is stopped; protruding piles and hemorrhoids reduced after a few applications of the Cones which are used according to directions, restoring these parts to their healthy condition.

Ridapile Cones remove the cause by killing the germs. The Cones exert a healing and soothing action and a trial brings immediate relief. Ridapile Cones do not contain OPIUM, MORPHINE, COCAINE, or other NARCOTICS. PRICE 50c. AND $1.00.

"THE STORE ACCOMMODATING" MASONIC TEMPLE FOURTH AND CHILICOTHE STS.

Liberty Clothing Co. Now In New Home

The Liberty Clothing Co., which for the past several years has been located in the Turley building, Second and Chillicothe streets, now occupies new quarters, 910 Gallia street, in a room remodeled and arranged to meet every demand of a first class store.

C. M. Johnson, under whose management the Liberty Clothing Co. has enjoyed a most prosperous business, and under whose supervision the present quarters were remodeled, is being congratulated upon all sides upon the elegance of the room.

The additional floor space will give the store much needed room, and will adequately accommodate the fall stock that is arriving daily. The interior of the room is spic and span in its new colors, and is one of the prettiest places in the city.

Manager Johnson is greatly pleased over his new location and will be in a position to handle a much larger line of men's and women's wearing apparel. He will undoubtedly have one of the best selected stock of goods in the country. Manager Johnson is a hard worker, very attentive to business, courteous and obliging and under his supervision the Liberty Clothing Co. is bound to enjoy further prosperity.

Pulled Out $1,200 Roll To Pay Bill

Constable Clinton Daniels of Sciotoville encountered the real surprise of his life Tuesday when he attempted to arrest a foreigner, who it is alleged was fleeing from Sciotoville and behind him was an unpaid board bill.

Getting a tip that his man, who had been working on the new C. & O. line had gone to a camp just north of Sciotoville Constable Daniels trailed his man to this place. As he stepped up to the dark-skinned foreigner to put him under arrest another excited foreigner stepped between them.

"What does this man owe you? How much? How much?" the overall clad foreigner gesticulated.

"Why he owes about $18" came back Constable Daniels as soothingly as possible as he intuitively felt that he was going to get his money. The minion of the law was not disappointed. Far be it from such.

Hauling out a wad of money, which he had sewed up on the inside of a heavy blue flannel shirt, the foreigner who had interceded for the fellow who owed the board bill and frankly admitted it, calmly proceeded to peel off a $50 bill off his roll and handed it over to Constable Daniels.

The officer was in a "jam," right off the reel as he only had about $6 in his jeans and could not make the change.

"Haven't you anything smaller?" asked the officer, and to his utter amazement the foreigner peeled off 24 brand new fifty dollar bills, $1,200, and as they gleamed in the afternoon sun Constable Daniels gazed admiringly, yes fondly, upon said roll of bills, and then proceeded to have one "scrambled." After going through about five camps in the vicinity of Sciotoville he succeeded in having one broken into the proverbial bits, and getting his $18 he returned contentedly to Sciotoville.

"No one will ever make me believe these Huns, as some people call them, haven't got the old mazzina," the constable said last night. "Why that guy made a piker out of me. That's all, a piker. But I got my money."

WANT TOWPATH FINISHED

Members of the board of county commissioners met as a board of inspection Wednesday afternoon and visited the site of the new bridge over the Scioto river and the towpath. They want to see what progress is being made on this improvement work and also see if there is any way in which the work can be rushed in order that it is completed before unfavorable weather sets in.

'NOTHER BEACH?

Is Portsmouth inoculated with the "bathing beach" fever? It was learned Wednesday that local parties are figuring on putting in a bathing beach near York park next summer and that arrangements to this effect are well under way. The promoters plan to make the beach as much like the Queen City Bathing Beach of Cincinnati as possible.

Ladies Contest At The Bathing Beach

Considerable interest is being manifested in the bathing suit contest for ladies, inaugurated by the management of the Peerless Bathing Beach, which is booked for Saturday afternoon. Season tickets will be presented to the two most attractive women, customarily in bathing suits. A large crowd is expected, owing to the great amount of enthusiasm that has been aroused.

Many picnic parties are availing themselves of the advantages at the beach and each evening the well-kept grounds are dotted here and there by family groups. The moonlight and the strong search-lights combine to make the beach a very popular place as well.

Prof. Walter Dodge, swimming expert and instructor, has a large class. His instructions are given in the mornings. At present the beach is ideal, for bathers can safely wade out 150 to 200 feet from the shore. The Peerless Bathing Beach has already become quite popular and interest is growing all the time.

CLOTHED THE NAKED

Acting on complaints of boat owners Chief W. T. McCarty rounded up a gang of West End boys Tuesday for swimming under the public landing. While he is too modest to admit it, Chief McCarty is known to have later dug down in his jeans and purchased bathing suits for the boys, seven in number.

TELLS ABOUT CONDITIONS IN THE FORD FACTORY

Will Cody, who is here from Detroit visiting home folks, talks interestingly of the big Ford automobile factory, where he has been employed as a millwright for the past two years.

Mr. Cody says that 15,000 people are employed in the Ford company's Detroit plant and 4,000 in the company's plant across the river, Walkerville, Canada. "No matter how dull or slack times may be, they won't lay off any of their help, and once in the Ford employ it's hard to quit, for they won't let you, and never discharge a man so long as he does his duty," said he. The company also has assembling branches throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico. Will is so well situated and so pleased with his surroundings that he expects to spend the remainder of his life in the Michigan metropolis, declaring it to be the most ideal and beautiful city in the country.

WILL INDICT SIX FOR DISASTER REDFIELD EXONERATES FEDERAL INSPECTORS

BECKER MAY GET ANOTHER RESPITE

New York, July 28.—Decision was expected to be announced by Justice Ford today whether to grant a third trial to Charles Becker or whether to call before him the condemned man and new witnesses to give evidence in support of Becker's application for a new trial. Until an early hour today Justice Ford had remained at his office going over the legal points raised by Becker's attorneys and the state's representatives hearing on those questions. One of the main points that he had to consider was whether he had authority to grant a new trial for any other reason other than those set forth in the state statute.

Up to a late hour Justice Ford said that he was still studying the law and that he had reached no decision. Reports were received from Albany that Governor Whitman had been privately informed that Justice Ford would hear witnesses in behalf of Becker but that the governor declined to confirm them. No confirmation could be obtained from Justice Ford and District Attorney Perkins was quoted as saying that he knew nothing at all about it.

Becker's execution has now been set for Friday morning but it was understood today that if Justice Ford decided to allow Becker to testify in support of his application for a new trial, it would be necessary to obtain another reprieve for the condemned man.

Becker, in the death house at Sing Sing while awaiting anxiously Justice Ford's decision, was said to be preparing a new statement to be made public only after his death. It was said that this was not a confession of guilt or of a confession of his innocence.

Say Germans Were Courteous To Victims Of U. S. Vessel

Aberdeen (via London) July 28.—They could not have treated us more courteously than they did," was the unanimous verdict of Captain Eugene Delk and the members of the crew of the American steamer Leelanaw when questioned last night regarding their encounter with a German submarine. They traveled about sixty miles on the deck of the submarine and became well acquainted with its crew, several of whom had been in America. One member of the Leelanaw's crew, retained aboard the submarine at his own request. He was one of the mess boys of the American ship and as he was of German nationality preferred joining the crew of the underwater craft to the probability of internment in England. At Kirkwall another of the Leelanaw's mess boys was found to be a German and was detained.

Captain Delk, a resident of Philadelphia, made a matter-of-fact statement regarding the sinking of his ship, and was not inclined to add details to the main facts as he outlined them. "We stopped when a shot was fired behind us," he said, "and then we had to leave. Our ship was shelled, bombed and torpedoed, but it took an hour and a half to sink her. The Germans took us aboard the submarine, carrying us about sixty miles and then gave us directions for coming to Kirkwall, which we reached safely in about twelve hours. The members of the crew, of whom there are 32 besides the captain," explained that the German commander apologized for the necessity of sinking the ship, but said it was forced upon him by the fact that the Leelanaw was carrying contraband of war and he was not in the habit of throwing overboard contraband cargoes.

The crew of the German boat conversed affably in good English with the Leelanaw's men. The Germans had no idea of the contents of the latest American note on the sinking of the Lusitania for their newspapers were two days old. The Leelanaw was the sixth vessel the submarine had sunk that day and it started, in pursuit of two others when the Americans had been returned to their boats after their long ride on the submarine's deck.

The sailors from the Leelanaw were cold and wet when they landed after their twelve hours row in lifeboats as they had been almost swamped several times in cross-tides off the Orkney Islands. They will leave today for Dundee where their statements will be taken by the United States consul.

MINERS WON'T STRIKE

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 28.—The mine workers of the anthracite field are not preparing for a strike at the expiration of the present agreement next spring, according to a statement issued yesterday by John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America. He said that published statements to the contrary were absolutely unfounded.

Columbus, July 28.—Collections amounting to $206,000 from findings made by the Bureau of Inspection of public officers were made during the 7½ months period between November, 1914, and June 30, 1915, according to a report made to State Auditor Donahay today. This record was in all 88 counties of the state.

Ohio Embalmers To Pay Back Expenses

Columbus, July 28.—Members of the state board of embalming examiners between 1902 and now, will have to return to the state a total of $3,500, according to a report of findings against them made today by State Examiner A. B. Dawson. In those years this is the first examination of the board's accounts that has been made and State Auditor Donahay offered this comment on the report:

"The state of Ohio should be censured instead of these men."

Members, or former members, against whom findings are made are:

R. E. Jones, Columbus, $763; C. J. Bateman, Zanesville, $763; C. J. Rupp, Sandusky, $853; George Bilow, Akron, $904; C. H. Searer, Alliance, $43; Dr. C. O. Probst, Columbus, $40; W. F. Cary, Millersburg, $139; H. H. Shaw, Columbus, $205; board as a whole, $303. Shaw is secretary and member of the present board, together with Cary and J. L. Arnold, of Canton. The report covers a period before Arnold was appointed.

Illegal expenditures of members included bar and cafe bills, expenses of trips to Columbus for lobbying undertakers' interests; hotel bills amounting to more than the legal maximum of $10 a day; railway fare of more than the 3 cents a mile permitted; tips to waiters, and porters and traveling expenses of members while attending national conventions of undertakers. On occasions members charged six days' hotel expenses, while attending meetings only four days.

MAY SEND MARINES TO QUIET OUTBREAK

Washington, July 28.—Full reports from Rear Admiral Caperton from the latest Haitian revolutionary outbreak at Port au Prince were awaited today by officials of the United States government. The information was called for following the receipt of official advices reporting an uprising in the Haitian capital against President Guillaume.

Rear Admiral Caperton is at Cape Haitien with the cruiser Washington and auxiliary cruiser Eagle. It was believed here that he would dispatch the Eagle with a force of marines to Port au Prince to protect foreigners or proceed there himself, on the cruiser Washington. Whether additional instructions will be sent to him probably will depend upon developments.

Official advices received here from Port au Prince reported an outbreak, but gave few details. Unofficial information said that former President Zamor and 100 political prisoners had been executed by order of General Oscar, governor of Port au Prince, who later was slain himself by a mob after taking refuge in the Dominican legation, that President Guillaume and his family had taken refuge in the French legation which had been threatened with attack, and that revolutionists were in possession of the city.

WON'T TELL PLANS FOR DEFENSE YET

Washington, July 28.—Details of the administration's program of national defense now being formulated will not be given out until completed by Secretary Garrison can prevent it. This is made clear in a statement issued by the secretary and published today in which he urged that he would not be pressed for details until the new military policy is ready to be laid before the public.

Fears that adverse criticisms of parts of the scheme might endanger it as a whole is given as the reason by Mr. Garrison. He said that he had refrained from discussing the subject because he felt that the effect would be more likely to do harm than good.

Plans for the reorganization of the army, now being worked out by the general staff will be laid before President Wilson next week by the secretary.

She has since steadily in her profession until now she occupies the high niche for which many thespians try but which is achieved by but few.

MINISTER ACQUITTED

Covington, La., July 28.—The Rev. W. H. McCart has been acquitted in superior court here on the charge of having murdered Monroe Smith, a neighbor. McCart fled immediately after the shooting in 1870 and was arrested upon his return recently from Hawaii where he had been a missionary. He was the chief witness in his own defense, declaring that Smith had struck his mother and had threatened to kill him.

OFFICIALS CONTINUE PROBE AS VICTIMS OF SHIP ARE BURIED

Chicago, July 28.—At least six indictments for responsibility for the Eastland disaster of last Saturday will be returned by the state grand jury, according to an announcement by State's Attorney Hoyne. It will not be decided until late in the day whether to ask indictments on charges of criminal carelessness or of manslaughter. "There is plenty of evidence for either charge," Mr. Hoyne said. The coroner's inquest, it is expected, will be completed late today and immediately thereafter the state grand jury plans to go into session.

Explaining the taking into custody of W. K. Greenbaum, general manager of the Indiana Transportation company, which leased the Eastland, last Saturday, Mr. Hoyne said:

"Mr. Greenbaum, in response to questions at the inquest, admitted that he knew nothing about the Eastland, but added that he knew or had heard that she was not seaworthy."

Other agencies investigating the disaster are continuing their work. Secretary William C. Redfield, of the department of commerce who is here on instructions from President Wilson, said he had not decided whether his inquiry will extend to all of the lake passenger traffic or whether it will be confined to the Eastland.

"For the time being we will confine ourselves to the case in hand," he said.

In response to a proclamation by Mayor Thompson Chicago observed today as a day of public mourning. The city hall is closed and the burial of almost 700 of the excursionists recovered from the river took place.

Facilities are lacking properly to handle the funerals and services over as many as thirty bodies were held simultaneously in a church. Because there are not enough steam and electric funeral trains and hearses the dead were removed to cemeteries in various sorts of conveyances. In many cases motor trucks which carried several coffins were used. In the vicinity of the Western Electric plant where most of the victims were employed, the funeral processions blocked traffic. Thirty of the dead were buried from the church of St. Mary of Czestochwa. At Mary Queen of Heaven church services for twenty-five took place.

Work of lifting the Eastland was started today but it is expected that ten days or two weeks will be required to complete the task. In the meantime the divers have stopped work and the number of bodies in the boat cannot be determined until it is placed on its keel.

STANDARD OIL STRIKE COMES TO AN END

New York, July 28.—The strike at the Bayonne, N. J., plants of the Standard Oil and Tidewater Oil companies ended today when virtually every man who walked out ten days ago returned to work. The plants of the Vacuum Oil and General Chemical companies which were closed during the riots in which three strikers were killed also resumed operations today.

Instead of the large armed forces which have been used by Sheriff Kincaid during the strike, only a few policemen were in evidence about the gates of oil plants today. The men appeared glad to resume work but there was no excitement. Jeremiah J. Bally, who led the strike until arrested in an automobile, with the sheriff and watched the men return to work. He was released today. The sheriff also said he would release Frank Tannenbaum the I. W. W. leader arrested last week.

EXONERATES INSPECTORS

Chicago, July 28.—Secretary Wm. C. Redfield, of the department of commerce, who is conducting an investigation into the sinking of the Eastland on instructions of President Wilson, declared that the responsibility for ignoring alleged faulty construction of the vessel cannot be placed on federal inspectors.

THE TOW PATH AGAIN.

In commenting upon the tow path road the other day we said that while we were not an engineer it did seem to us that it would have been better to have built a straight road from the bridge to the hill, with Y approaches at the hill to accommodate the Union Mills and the Buena Vista pike travelers. Now we believe that we are somewhat of an engineer for we find that City Engineer George Wilhelm, at that time county engineer, had the same idea and recommended it to the commissioners for consideration. Under date of June 11th, 1913, Engineer Wilhelm submitted to the commissioners a memorandum on this roadway in which he used the following language:

"If the tow path road is produced straight through to the hill road from the vicinity of Elbow Lock, with adequate openings for flood water, the water will go where nature intended it should; the road would be protected from wash and the people both north and south from the end at Hill road, would be provided with a road which would work the minimum of hardship for each in the matter of extra travel. In this event an approach road would have to be built to the south in the vicinity of the Elbow Lock so that people who attend crops in the vicinity of the Scioto river and the Old Bed may have access to their lands."

"I would suggest that before the bids on the tow path road are asked for, that your body, with the prosecutor and whoever else whose advice you may wish to have in the matter, go over the situation on the ground itself, and decide what is the best thing to do. It appears to me that a road straight to the Hill road from the Elbow Lock vicinity be built. At least a survey should be made showing at what cost and advantage, or otherwise, this road would be to the general public. That part of the tow path between 'The Bridge' and Elbow Lock can be let, as originally intended. The balance may be deferred until you have studied the situation more thoroughly, and have the survey and cost of estimate of a road straight to the Hill road to compare with the cost of repairs to the second section from Elbow Lock to Union Mills."

Such were Engineer Wilhelm's recommendations and had they been carried out we believe that we would have had a better road, a more serviceable road, and one that could have been built on a level with the bridge at a cost less than the roads now being built. The commissioners, in the consideration of this project, were confronted with clamorous objections from some interested property holders who wanted the Union Mills roadway regardless of cost or general good and as a compromise they decided to rebuild the entire tow path and also to build a side road from Elbow Lock to the Hill road, abandoning the old river road to the Infirmary. They undoubtedly felt that they were doing the best under the circumstances, and it was a hard matter to decide. Any one who goes over the ground now, will, we believe, come to the conclusion that Engineer Wilhelm's recommendation would have been the ideal solution, and would have given a better road and better service to the greater number of people.

THEORY AND PRACTICE.

Not long ago we were out in a machine with a friend up at Gallipolis and the talk turned to a recent holdup of an automobile party by a bandit. We remember one of the party said that he would never be caught in that manner, for at the first sign of a robber he would throw his machine into high speed and keep the robber so busy trying to dodge that he would not have time to shoot, and then when he had him properly bewildered, he would scot away. Well Doc and his car whom he lovingly calls "Old Kate" had their little holdup Sunday last. There wasn't any dodging though to speak of. "Old Kate" just meekly came to a stop while the robber interviewed Doc to his heart's content. Then he, the robber, said "Git", and "Old Kate" and Doc "got." They didn't stop "a gittin'" either until they reached town whereupon Doc did like any other Christian automobilist would do. He hunted up a policeman and told his troubles to him. The kind policeman went out and gathered in the robber and he now reposes in a cell of the Gallia county jail, a warning to all who would wander from the straight and narrow path.

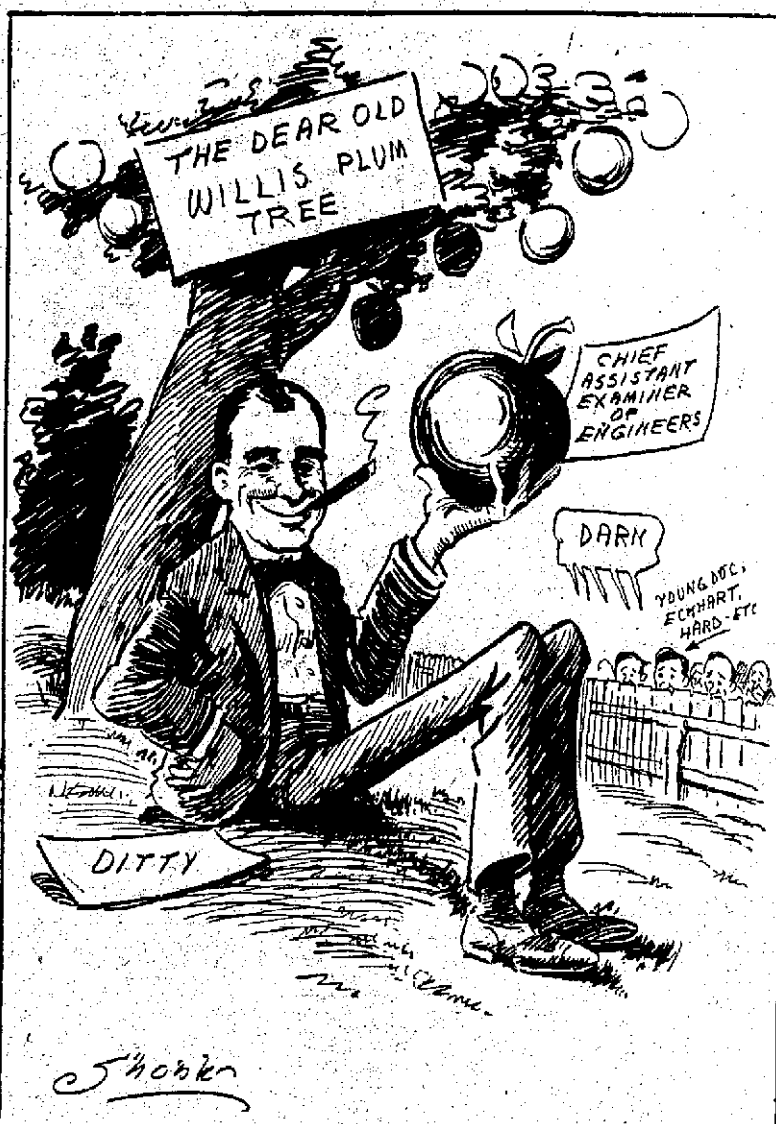

We congratulate our friend, the Doctor, upon his good judgment. It is a lot more satisfaction to have a theory exploded and live to tell about it than it would be to try it out and have one's friends writing eulogies on a dead hero.

The Honorable James Crain, standing just opposite our office window yesterday morning, expressed the opinion privately for public consumption, that he failed to see wherein any of "that bunch of Republican candidates for mayor were gettin' anywhere." Mr. Crain further remarked that in his opinion they were "all tied to a post and he hated to see people wastin' so much energy in hot weather when nothin' would come from all the bustlin' but the pip." A little cruel in James to talk that way about our perspiring patriots, but there's a lot of truth in the remark.

Really though the only fellows who are getting excited about the Republican nomination for mayor are the candidates and their immediate backers. The rest of us find it too hot to grow excited.

AT LAST.

BUTTERMILK AND BACTERIA.

(Journal of The American Medical Association.)

The popularity of buttermilk as a food and a beverage is attested by its widespread sale. Any drink which can succeed in invading the precincts of the saloon and compete for sale, as buttermilk now does, side by side with alcoholic beverages deserves attention. The plan of allowing milk to undergo fermentation of such a character that the products are not unpleasant or unwholesome for human consumption, yet serve as preservatives to prevent undesirable types of decomposition, is not new. The fermentation product chiefly depended on in such cases is lactic acid, although, in certain types, alcoholic fermentation may also be in evidence. Buttermilk belongs to the acid type; it usually contains from 0.6 to 0.9 per cent of acid. Strictly speaking, buttermilk is a by-product of butter-making; but with the development of the milk industries, the demand for buttermilk has frequently been met by fermenting the skim or separator milk which remains as a by-product of the cream trade. The fermented product is not literally buttermilk, but it may be indistinguishable from the latter in composition and properties. The use of these fermented milk products has been favored, not alone for their intrinsic food value, but also for necessary reasons. The specific fermentation products have been reputed to have a "tonic" action in the digestive tract. Special virtues have been attributed to the lactic acid bacteria, particularly in relation to putrefactive changes in the alimentary tract. Aside from any alleged therapeutic virtues, there can be no doubt of the nutrient value of the beverages. With the growing attention devoted to the bacteria which milk may harbor, and the recognition of the dangers which they may entail, it is not strange that buttermilk also should demand bacteriologic consideration. Heinemann, of the Department of Bacteriology and Hygiene at the University of Chicago, has demonstrated that the presence of lactic acid in milk will destroy the germs of dysentery, typhoid, diphtheria and cholera. The slower milk sours, the greater is the danger of disease germs surviving. Acids other than lactic acid are frequently present in buttermilk. This beverage, Heinemann reminds us, should therefore be looked on with suspicion, especially if heavily polluted, unless it has been prepared from pasteurized milk. There is, however, says The Journal of the American Medical Association, a remnant of satisfaction to all lovers of the fermented product to learn that the chances of buttermilk becoming a carrier of infection are small.

The increasing number of automobile accidents in Portsmouth shows the necessity for more stringent enforcement of the traffic rules. If a few offenders, and there are comparatively few after all who are causing the trouble, if a few were to get what they deserve, the streets would be safe for the rest of the community.

Funny things keep right on happening even in the most trying times and here's our distinguished guest, Cap'n Hobson, criticising the latest note to the imperial German government on the ground that it sounds too much like a challenge to fight, says the Ohio State Journal. That's not funny. It's serious with Rich P. H. He makes his living talking about war. The real article would put him out of business.

OLD NEW YORK

New York, July 28.—A most unique dancing event took place in New York last week when the graduates of the Chalf Normal School of Dancing held their commencement exercises in the spacious Leslie Hall in the Eighties. The graduates are the pick of the dancing instructors from all over the United States.

They come to New York each year to learn what is going to be done in dancing for the next year and how to do it under the tutelage of Louis H. Chalf, the Russian dancer who for years danced for the czar and was the favorite of the Russian Imperial Ballet. Chalf was the man who was responsible for the clean-up of the dancing resorts of the vulgar, suggestive dances. He has fought them for years and insists that the art of Terpsichore should be put on the highest plane.

At the commencement exercises it was shown that the dances next year are to be simple, plain and graceful and away from the buny-bug, razzle dazzle, hop skips and pumps. Karl Heinrich, who is a recital exhibition dancer, was one of the striking pupils of Chalf and another feature was the participation of men generally in the work. Male work is rare in American dancing and quite typical of the Russian.

In the outer office of Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph Office, is a framed sign: "What are the facts?" This is Carlton's way of expressing to those who wish to see him that he wants them to know what they want to say and how to say it when they get into his office.

T. A. Dorgan, the cartoonist, was trying to hire a chauffeur the other day and went about it in his usually breezy style. When the first applicant appeared "Tad" said:

The motion picture companies are not only going after the big stars but are now engaging regular dramatists to write their film scenarios. Leo Arthur, who helped write "The Auctioneer," is writing for the Edison Company and is not finding it at all hard to grind out $1,500 worth of film thrills monthly. Other big playwrights have been approached. A few years may find the majority of the dramatists writing scenarios—you never can tell. As Abelard said to Heloise:

The ventilation is very bad and only the most rugged employes can stand the work without feeling the after effects.

Man Accused Of Robbery At Wellston Claims He Has Relatives In Portsmouth

The Wellston Sentinel says: Wm. King, a horse-trader residing near Berlin X Roads claims he was robbed by two strangers Monday evening, who succeeded in securing $500 of the coin of the realm, which had been in Mr. King's possession until said individuals smoothly slipped it from his pocket.

According to Mr. King's story the two strangers had approached him, and said they wanted to purchase a colt. He having such an animal already in his possession, started out with them in the buggy, to demonstrate the good qualities of his colt. While driving down Pennsylvania avenue one of the "smooth boys" attempted to relieve him of the filthy lucre by extending his hand in the pocket where the money nestled confidently. Bill having a delicate sense of touch, noticed the extended hand and immediately called him, and accused him of being a thief, at the same time, putting the money in another pocket. He was ably seconded by the stranger's partner, who became indignant because of his wickedness and refused to ride further in such bad company. Accordingly the wayward man was put out of the buggy and the two drove on along the pike, after they had turned up West 14th street. They drove up the pike gently conversing of the evils of the day and when they were returning city bound, just opposite the County Fair Park, the other stranger jumped out of the buggy and began to beat it towards the Driving Park. Immediately King felt in the pocket where the wallet had been placed but the bundle had vanished. King drove to Wellston and notified the police who began a search for the robber.

After King arrived in the city and had notified the police he entered the Duke Vernon saloon on Railroad avenue and let him behold; before his very eyes were the two strangers with three companions also strangers their clothing changed completely. He immediately accused them of taking his bundle and they started to escape. Out the door they came and two escaped by boarding a freight train. Two of them were captured while the other's whereabouts is unknown. The police lodged the two captured ones in the city bastille but after searching them only about $21 was found on both. King claims the ones who escaped on the freight train had the money, but says the two captured individuals are the ones who were in the buggy with him.

Enter Pleas.
The two above mentioned, appeared before Mayor Nixon this morning and were charged with drunkenness and both pleaded guilty, but emphatically denied that they were guilty of the robbery charge. Both state that they knew absolutely nothing of Mr. King.

The youngest giving his name as George E. Gordon says he was recently employed in the chemistry department of the Goodyear Rubber company at Akron, was bumbling his way searching for work. He claims to have relatives in Portsmouth. He had in his possession $20.35, a small knife and a few letters.

The other is an older man giving his name as George Wm. Ferguson, and says he is a cook. He states that he blew in town, entered Duke Vernon's saloon and never left it to his knowledge only when the officer arrested him in front of the saloon. He had in his possession only 50 cents.

A. E. Jacobs has been asked by them to serve as their attorney. As soon as the arrangements are made a preliminary hearing will be given them.

Boy Wandered Away

Caught Men Prying Tires Off An Auto

Frank Argerbright, foiled the theft of some automobile tires at the rear of George Jacobs' meat market on Eleventh street, Tuesday night.

Mr. Argerbright, before retiring, walked through the rear yard of his home on Twelfth street to close the alley gate, when started to see two men in the act of prying off the tires from two of the wheels of Mr. Jacobs' auto truck. When they saw him they took to their heels, disappearing down the alley.

BAD CHECK MAN SAYS IT "WAS ALL A MISTAKE"

Leroy Hill, a well-dressed colored young man, who was captured by Officer Callahan Smith after an exciting chase following the discovery that a check he had passed was worthless, threw himself upon the mercy of the court Wednesday, drawing a fine of $25 and costs and a sentence of 60 days in the Cincinnati workhouse.

Hill waived the right of being held to the grand jury. He admitted his guilt, referring to his act as a "mistake." Hill is an embezzler by occupation and formerly lived in Cleveland. He came to Portsmouth from Zanesville and engaged a room at the home of Mrs. Hattie Bryant, colored. On Tuesday morning she tendered her a check for $20.50, she to deduct $3.50 for room rent. Roach & Bierley, grocers, cashed it for her, only to discover soon afterward that the man had no funds with the Portsmouth Banking Company. Mrs. Bryant started on a hunt for him and enlisted the aid of the police to locate him. A merry chase through alleys and yards of the North End followed, a Scotch collie dog once grabbing the negro as he scaled a fence. He was finally found in a crouching position in a small corn patch near the Ackerman building on Thirteenth street. He claimed he had sent the balance of the money by mail to a girl in Covington, Ky., but when searched $14.70 was found concealed in his socks. A railroad ticket to Columbus was also found among his effects.

The court turned the money over to Roach & Bierley. Hill was chased out of the Portsmouth Banking Company's room on Monday afternoon when discovered helping himself to blank checks of all local banks, and after he was unable to give a satisfactory account of himself, but is thought to have concealed one of the check blanks in his hand or coat sleeve.

J. C. D. Anderson, a North End colored merchant, claims that Hill also asked him into cash an $18 check Tuesday, but that he declined to do so.

Option Is Taken

F. H. Fritts, a well known real estate man, has secured for $18,000 a 30 day option on the business property at 829 Gallia street, occupied by the Smoke House, and owned by the Ernest P. Hermann estate.

The property, a two story brick building, has a frontage of 19 ft. 7 inches. Mr. Fritts, when asked by the Times Wednesday, said he had simply been asked by a local man to secure the option and he has not the slightest idea what plans if any the prospective purchaser might have.

Lost Fine Horse
Ellsworth Noel, well known farmer, who lives on the Scioto Trail just north of the city lost a valuable horse Tuesday night. The animal died from acute indigestion. It was one of Mr. Noel's fine bay team and was valued at $250.

Mrs. C. H. Smith, of 730 Kendall avenue has been very ill for the past week with nervousness.

Automobile Victim Is In Bad Shape

Morris Copas, the traveling man, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident on the Divide Hill, near Lombardsville, Tuesday, was reported doing fairly well at Hempstead hospital, Wednesday morning.

Though he was suffering hemorrhages from the ear and showed other bad symptoms when first brought to the hospital, attending physicians do not believe that Copas' skull was fractured. John Reilly, who was with him at the time of the accident, was also laid up at his home on Jefferson street Wednesday, suffering mainly from the severe shaking up he received.

The accident occurred in rounding a sharp curve on the Divide hill between Lombardsville and Henley. The Reilly car was moving at a lively rate when suddenly it began skidding. Seeing he was about to go into a ditch Mr. Reilly swerved the car in an opposite direction and it performed a "flip flop" in the middle of the road, turning over completely. The car, which was considerably damaged, is now at the Robe Cycle Car company's plant for repairs.

Three Auto Crashes; No One Is Injured

While driving his pretty new runabout machine south on Lincoln street at 5:15 Tuesday afternoon, Roy Gordon, well-known actor, collided with a street car coming west on Eleventh street, at Eleventh and Lincoln streets.

When Mr. Gordon heard the car approaching he tried to turn down Eleventh, but the car side-swiped his machine, but it was not seriously damaged. The front and back fender of the left side of the machine were damaged. Mr. Gordon was driving the car alone and was not injured. He and Mrs. Gordon recently drove their new car through from Baltimore, and in about ten days they will return East again.

An automobile driven by Homer Selby, of the Selby Shoe company, and a machine driven by William Newkirk, Jr., who conducts a grocery at 1832 Eleventh street, collided at Robinson avenue and Offense streets at 8:20 Tuesday evening. The left front wheel of Mr. Newkirk's machine was torn off and the left fender was damaged. No one was injured. Mr. Selby was driving north on Offense street and Mr. Newkirk was coming west on Robinson avenue when the collision took place.

A salesman, who travels for The Harry Smith Auto Supply company of Columbus, ran his automobile into the underground crossing, just beyond the Fourth place, on the Scioto Trail, Tuesday night, and his machine was badly damaged, the windshield being broken, one fender was bent and one wheel was torn off. The driver was uninjured.

HEARD FROM JOHN WHITE

Chief McCarty is in receipt of a letter from William W. Hess, of Geneva, Adams county, Ind., informing him of the present whereabouts of John White, formerly of Portsmouth. The writer tells of having just formed the acquaintance of White, whose talk mainly centered about his family, whom he has not seen or heard from for some time, he claiming to have a wife and five children, among them a son named Howard. He thought the man's family might be in the dark as to his present location and so advises the chief that White is now at Bass Lake, Manistee county, Mich.

Complain Of Bad Vault.

A complaint regarding a bad vault at 1717 Offense street, has been referred to Dr. W. W. Smith, city health officer, for investigation.

HELPED HIMSELF TO AN APPLE, IS ALL CUT UP

Clarence William Brown, 21, negro, received two serious cuts in his left arm from a pocket knife wielded by Gip McLoman, 25, negro, Tuesday noon during the dinner hour at the Boxley, Goodwin and Bray, C. & O. Northern grade contractors' camp at Siloam, Ky.

According to Dr. J. F. York, the company physician, who was called Brown took an apple from McLoman's plate, just to be "joking" with him, but when he missed the apple McLoman became angered and accused Brown of stealing the apple which was the sword for a fight to begin. During the mixup McLoman drew his pocket knife and stabbed Brown twice.

One knife thrust entered the left shoulder just missing the main artery of the arm. The other entered the arm between the wrist and elbow but was not of a serious nature. Dr. York took several stitches in the wounds and reported Brown getting along nicely Wednesday.

Squire James Braden of Fullerton was called and he placed McLoman under arrest on a warrant sworn out by Brown, charging McLoman with cutting with intent to kill. Squire Braden gave McLoman a hearing at the camp, hearing the testimony of eye witnesses and bound him over to the grand jury on $200 bond. In default of bond he was taken to the Greenup county jail.

Two Big Buffaloes

Will Sly and a party captured two unusually large Buffalo fish near the government dyke Tuesday night. One weighed fourteen pounds and the other twelve. They sold them to Saloonkeeper Alf Ray.

The tax duplicate of Scioto county was given quite a boost when automobile owners of Portsmouth and Scioto county turned in their valuation of their machines to District Tax Assessor M. B. M. Corson, whose offices are located in the Kricker building.

Following are the automobile owners of the First Ward and the figures they have listed their machines for taxation.
